Whole Area On Bucks' Bandwagon Now

By JOHN VANDEN HEED
Sports Editor

Unbeaten and top-ranked Buchanan will be carrying southwestern Michigan's basketball banner and championship chance in the state high school Class C title tilt Saturday night. Coach Bill Wilson's Bucks will be going after their school's first state crown ever and the area's first championship in five seasons against fourth-rated and once-beaten Negaunee, an Upper Peninsula squad coached by former Galien mentor Dave Hallgren.

The championship clash is set for 8:30 p.m. before a capacity crowd of more than 13,000 in the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor. A Buchanan victory would also bring southwestern Michigan's first Class C crown in 13 years (New Buffalo won it in 1963) and only the fourth area "C" title ever.

Buchanan basketball boosters have been bubbling with spirit all week, and they promise to remain behind the Bucks...win or lose. The team will be honored at the high school Sunday afternoon when it returns home. Buchanan, which lost to River Rouge in 1955 in its only other trip to the state finals, has breezed past 27 straight opponents this year. Blossomland Conference champions are averaging 78.9 points per game with a winning margin of 22.4 points (No opponent has come closer than eight points to the Bucks).

All-stater Ken Garrett, a 6-6 senior forward, leads Buchanan scorers with a 21.7 average. He has been in double figures every game this season. A pair of brother combinations round out the lineup, with Mike and Gerald Busby at forward and center, respectively, and Walt and Kevin Vanderbush, sons of the Buchanan high school principal, at guards. Gary Jones and Greg Frazier are top-notch substitutes.

Negaunee, which is in the heart of Michigan's iron ore county, is nicknamed the Miners. Negaunee, which lost to eventual state champion Bay City All Saints in the semifinals last year, also features a brother combination... Chuck, an all-stater, and John.

CONSUMER 'URGE TO BUY' IS BACK!

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — For the first time in three years, more consumers are expecting good times than bad economically in the year ahead, the latest University of Michigan Survey of Consumer Attitudes shows. The U-M's Survey Research Center's Index of Consumer Sentiment shows 47 per cent of those surveyed are expecting good times in the upcoming months, while 29 per cent are expecting bad times. The accelerated consumer confidence in the economy indicates a return to pre-recession buying patterns, the survey reports.

According to the index, there was a substantial gain in consumer confidence from November 1975 to February 1976. There had been no gain during the previous three months. The index registered 84.5 in the latest quarter, up 9.1 points. The index has now recovered all but six points of the nearly 35-point decline reported during 1973-74. The survey uses a 100-point base month of February 1966.

Consumers' short-term expectations about their personal financial situation, short-term expectations about business conditions and opinions about it being a good time to buy large household goods have all returned to pre-recession levels, according to survey director Jay Schmiedeskamp and founder George Katona. Attitudes toward buying houses and cars showed especially strong gains during the latest survey, with the proportion of consumers interested in purchasing a car taking a sharp upturn.

The economists say survey interviews indicated many consumers put off making new purchases during 1974-75 and either repaired rather than replaced items or did without them. But, they say, consumers are saying such items will not be repaired again and will now be purchased. "This so-called 'pent-up demand' will be an important factor this year when consumers are much more in a mood to spend than they were last year," the pair say. "Consumers are also in pretty fair shape financially, having added to their savings in recent years despite the hard times," they added. "Thus a substantial increase in consumer spending is assured for the near future."

Schmiedeskamp and Katona say, however, certain attitudes prevail which counteract a boom psychology. "People still greatly desire to add to their savings; there are still many people who are worse off financially than they were before the recession began; and there are still many people worried about the long-term outlook and about the ability of the government to manage the economy," they say.

While the pair say all attitudes and expectations sampled in the survey showed improvement, those most closely related to long-term confidence remained below pre-recession levels. The improvements in confidence occurred among all income level groups, the economists added.

Police Value Suspected Drugs At $250,000!

COLOMA — Coloma city police said they seized 1½ pounds of suspected heroin and cocaine early this morning with an estimated street value of $250,000.

The haul is believed to be the largest amount of heroin and cocaine ever seized at one time in southwestern Michigan, according to Lt. Jack Drach, commander of the Berrien county metro narcotics unit.

Four Chicago people, two men and two young women, were arrested in connection with the incident, police said.

Lt. Drach said the pound of suspected heroin has a street value of about $200,000 and the seven ounces of suspected cocaine has a street value of about $50,000.

The seizure and arrests were made about 1:30 a.m. this morning after Sgt. Jerry Crockett said he stopped to investigate an auto with its hood up at the intersection of Friday road and I-94.

Crockett said he observed a woman in the car attempt to conceal a small plastic container which was later found to contain suspected drugs. He said he was joined by Sgt. Thomas LaVanway of the Coloma township police force and the two searched the car.

He said the two found a pillow case in the trunk containing 17 bags of suspected heroin and eight bags of suspected cocaine. He said they also found two loaded .38-caliber revolvers in the trunk and over $4,300 in cash.

Two men, a woman, and her 16-year-old sister, all from Chicago, were arrested on a preliminary charge of violation of the controlled substance act, Crockett said.

Booked into the Berrien county jail were Pedro Garcia, 32, Raul Perez, 28, and Miss Betzaida Garcia, 20.

Miss Garcia's sister, Sonia Garcia, was lodged at the juvenile detention center, Berrien Center, police said. The Garcia sisters are not believed to be related to Pedro Garcia, Crockett said.

Before being jailed, Betzaida Garcia was treated at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, for a head cut she received when she fell to the ground from an undetermined type of seizure, Crockett said.

Crockett said he had been told the four were traveling from Kalamazoo to Chicago and had stopped at Coloma because of car trouble.

Man's Ashes Get Lost In The Mail

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service has lost the cremated remains of a man sent through the mail for burial at Arlington National Cemetery, postal officials say. Bertram E. Williams, a retired naval officer, died Jan. 10 at St. Petersburg, Fla. Following the terms of his will, Williams' family had his body cremated and asked that the ashes be shipped to Arlington National Cemetery near Washington for burial.

Murray Watts, stepson of the dead man, said the crematorium forwarded the ashes in an urn placed in a mailing package.

But Raymond J. Costanzo, superintendent of Arlington National Cemetery, said Thursday that the box, about six-by-eight inches, was damaged when it arrived at the cemetery and the urn was not in it.

"The family kept calling us and asking for the date of interment. We kept saying that we couldn't schedule it until we received the remains," Costanzo said.

Costanzo said the cemetery frequently receives urns through the mail containing cremated remains. "In almost 30 years this is the first one ever lost," he said.

Watts said, "We went to the post office and they started a search for it. We kept waiting and waiting but they never found it." St. Petersburg postmaster Harry W. Scott said, "We spent many, many hours trying to locate it and made many telephone calls." But to

ZOLLAR ON 4TH DISTRICT RACE:

'I'm Not Going To Run, And That's It'

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

State Sen. Charles O. Zollar announced today that he won't be a candidate for the Fourth District congressional seat being vacated by Edward Hutchinson.

"I'm not going to run, and that's it," Zollar said.

"I had a consultation with my best advisers, my wife and both daughters, and we made a unanimous decision."

Zollar's announcement gives David Stockman, of St. Joseph, a clear field at the present for the Republican nomination. Zollar is the third possible candidate to decide against running.

Rep. John S. Mowat Jr., of Adrian, and George Roche III, Hillsdale college president, previously announced they will not be candidates for the nomination.

Stockman is the only announced candidate. The only other possibility mentioned in GOP circles is Nick Smith, a Hillsdale county farmer.

Zollar's announcement said:

"Babe (his wife) and I talked it over, and we realized that at the end of my present term in the Senate, we'll have devoted 20 years to public service. That's enough; we have lots of things to do and places to go. And we're going to do them."

Zollar ran a public opinion poll in the seven counties of the Fourth District and said it "was excellent" in indicating his chances for election to Congress were good.

"My name recognition was 83 per cent. Stockman's was less than 30 per cent. If I followed the poll, I'd run. But the poll is only one piece of the decision," Zollar said.

Zollar, of Benton Harbor, was first elected to the State Senate in 1964. He was chairman of the Appropriations committee and regarded as the most powerful politician in Lansing, next to the governor, until Democrats took control of the Senate in 1975.

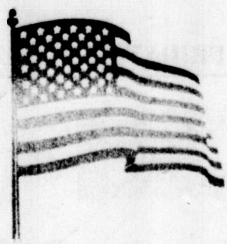

Zollar was defeated for the Republican nomination for Congress in 1972 when he opposed Hutchinson.

The daughters with whom Zollar consulted in making his decision of non-candidacy are Miss Robin Zollar, a teacher at Riverwood Mental Health clinic, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Brad (Michelle) Jarvis who lives in the Lansing area.

Zollar is a well-known collector of the foremost antique dealers and collectors.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Washington Island Wants To Weigh Anchor

It is Washington Island. In the early days potatoes accounted for the inhabitants main source of revenue.

Potato farming is still a big thing on the island, but depending on how one interprets the Wisconsin property assessor's rulings, spuds may be big for some purposes and not so great for others.

Over the years resorting has come to the island, first in the form of rental units for those wanting to get away from the big city, primarily Chicago, more recently in the shape of outright, nonresident ownership of choice views of the surrounding waters.

This trend naturally has kited land values and just as naturally the assessor has taken note of the development.

Jack Hagen, the chairman of his township board, puts the matter in language somewhat too vivid to reproduce in this column but understandable once the adjective description is deleted from his complaint.

The taxes on his 150-acre farm until recently were $600 a year. Now they are $2,000.

This upward spiral holds generally for the year-round residents.

Hagen and his 550 constituents think this a bit much.

The villain in the piece is Wisconsin's share the wealth tax laws for public schooling.

The better heeled districts have some of their local taxes skimmed off for those less affluent.

The law's philosophy virtually forces the assessor to follow the Wisconsin real estate market with a combination telescope-microscope.

If he does not, then the high valuation district will come up short on the money to run its schools.

The town board has hired a lawyer to check out two possible escape routes.

One would be to recall Wisconsin's governor, Patrick J. Lucey, the spiritual daddy of the share the wealth tax plan.

The other would be to annex to Michigan.

Hagen and his friends regard unseating the well intentioned Lucey as less promising than shifting allegiance from the Badger to the Wolverine state.

The state line through Green Bay runs just 1 1/2 miles north of Washington Island, so adjusting it would be, cartographically speaking, a stroke of the pen.

Unfortunately for Hagen, several other pens must first be put to paper.

The Wisconsin and Michigan legislatures must approve the transfer, followed then by Congressional approval.

The political climate being what it is at Madison, Lansing and Washington, the chance for a cozy island to slip away from the school problems in Wisconsin's depressed areas is remote.

More realistically, the only quick solution seems to be for spuds to rise in price sufficient to keep up with the local taxes.

The intriguing part of the story is the islanders viewing Michigan as a better economic haven than Wisconsin.

We are so used to reading and hearing about business giving Michigan the go by because of her high tax, pro labor policies, we overlook the fact of the U.S. having other localities which may be even more regressive.

At least Mr. Hagen, peering longingly a mile and a half to the northeast, thinks we have something going in our state.

Kissinger Will Learn Words Are Not Enough

Sec. of State Kissinger's warnings to Cuba about trying any more troop exercises in Africa had better be backed by something more concrete than rhetoric. They were not in the case of Angola.

A number of governments right now must be wondering if the United States has retired permanently from the world arena after Vietnam or is recharging its batteries to show freedom loving people (a species not yet extinct) how to protect themselves from the plunderers.

If Cuban troops do show up again in Africa or another continent to help install a "government" at the point of a bayonet and the U.S. does not respond, as the secretary of state has warned it will, against Cuba, much more than national prestige will be lost.

Weak governments everywhere will begin scratching for survival with whatever new alignments they can fashion — excluding the U.S.

Leadership is demonstrated, not spoken.

Fatal Driver Profile Confirmed By Study

Police departments and other agencies involved in fatal traffic accidents have a fairly good idea of the type of driver frequently involved: Young, aggressive, with a strong possibility of alcohol involvement.

That suspicion has been confirmed by a federal Department of Transportation study of accident fatalities in four cities. A "fatal driver profile" was constructed from the results of accidents in Baltimore, Boston, Oklahoma City and Albuquerque.

Investigators found drivers most likely to cause fatal accidents were males between 25 and 35 who were heavy drinkers, usually single and driving an older car. The accidents usually occurred in the early morning hours on weekends.

Many variables enter into averages, so the above profile by no means covers all accidents. It is the predominant theme, at least in the four cities studied, and thus provides a basis for determining ways of reducing the accident toll. The four cities for the past three years have been supported by federal funds in crackdowns on drunken drivers and efforts at rehabilitation.

Publicizing the "fatal driver profile" and developing effective programs to prevent susceptible drivers from falling into the pattern would be efforts well spent.

Editor, We would like to add our voices in dissent over the possible closing of Jefferson school.

We are all aware of the probable loss of property value and the inconvenience of having to see our children safely to school. What about the loss of a marvelous facility and our own personally filled library and playground equipment bought with long hours of PTA activities?

Editor, We would like to thank you for your excellent coverage of the "Jefferson school closing" issue.

We also hope the school board has understood that the majority of the taxpayers, both with and without children affected, do not want their school closed! All of us are budgeting these days, but you don't cut a necessity — you cut a luxury.

SEES BENTON HARBOR AS WATER CAPITAL

Editor, Benton Harbor used to have a ship canal paralleling West Main Street. It was filled in to make more valuable building space for a growing city, I believe. In view of Benton Harbor's current condition, increased building space downtown turns out to be superfluous. Maybe a waterway would actually be of more value than filled-in land. There's been speculation on what the future of Benton Harbor may be, and the old canal serves as a reminder of Benton Harbor's chief natural resource; its location.

The following probably couldn't happen now, but for the fun of it I imagine Benton Harbor reconstructed into a water capital of the Great Lakes. Anything and everything having to do with Great Lakes and marine activities might be established. Traditional industries associated with boats and navigation and diving could be concentrated in an attractive regional center. More exciting, though, the array of related industries could become the setting of research and implementation for industries still in the drawing board stage. These range from wind, wave, and solar powered generating devices to floating city concepts. Appropriate combinations of fresh water aquaculture, waste utilization, and organic farming in and around the marina center could be designed for amenable living by ecologically aware people.

Not to be ignored would be one of the oldest of marine industries; sail ship building. I understand that someone in Germany is constructing ocean going sailing ships again. They promise to stage a comeback because of the improvements in materials, electronics, and design engineering made over the past half century. A forward looking marine center community could come in on the ground floor of such a renewed industry.

South Haven — A little chapel on Broadway, located in the midst of the proposed downtown urban renewal project area, is believed by some residents to be the first church every constructed in South Haven. Records of its construction seem to be lost, but it is known that the community's first organized religious group, the First Congregational church, occupied the building from 1888 until the present Congregational church was constructed on Phoenix Street in 1878. Still in use as a place of worship by the Free Will Baptist congregation, the building may be demolished.

SISS Sinks In Obsolescence

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Room 6-B in the basement of the Russell Senate Office Building is quiet save for the sigh of a leaf falling from a potted plant. It is quickly picked up and discarded in a wastebasket that contains no other scrap. A woman sits at a desk reading a paperback novel while a man looks longingly at a clock on the wall.

Once among the most active and influential subordinate elements of the upper house of Congress, SISS, (Senate Internal Security Subcommittee) in its 25th year, is now nothing more than basement space. Empty space at that. The only game left is guessing whether SISS or its potted plant will die first.

No doubt the decline is mostly deserved. Since its creation in 1950 as an anti-Communist investigative body, the subcommittee has had an excess of almost everything except meaningful production. For years it was one of the largest staffed and instilled of special agencies on Capitol Hill but used its muscle for little other than mischief. Along with Joseph McCarthy and the House Un-American Activities Committee, SISS labored to convince the nation that it should tolerate only those citizens pure of political thought.

Since then, of course, McCarthy and HUAC have gone to their rewards. SISS however, hangs on as a kind of bureaucratic zombie.

There may, however, be one last hope for subcommittee survival. And that is Richard Schultz, who this month was hired as the new staff director. The old staff director was Julien (Jay) Sourwine, who forever acted like a man with a toothache in his heart, and who joked in such things as keeping secret files on members of Congress with whom he disagreed. At worst, the changeover can't be anything but progressive.

Schultz is no breathless reformer. At 45, he describes himself as "An unspectacular plodder." He served five years with the FBI, worked on internal security for the House, and is a Republican conservative. However, he is also a man who wants to keep his new job and he knows he can't do it by emulating his predecessor.

He sees the SISS responsibility largely as one of oversight, not investigation. "Where are these people getting their explosives and their weapons?" he asks. "Are there loopholes in our laws that they use? Should these loopholes be closed? These are things good committee work can determine, and I would expect that we will do it."

And it should be done. Dean Rusk once said that while America sleeps, two-thirds of the world is plotting to do it in. Doubtless he was right and in this regard vigilance is proper. SISS can still make amends for its past evils, if it wants and if we allow it. And, if that girl will put down her paperback and get to work.

Political Labels Are Misleading

WASHINGTON (KFS) — Political riddle: When is a liberal not a liberal and a conservative not a conservative?

Answer: If his name is Carter, Jackson or Udall and he is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination this year.

Political labels are inevitable in a campaign because they are the simplest method of identification yet devised and because both the press and the voters are too lazy to go into complicated details. This year, however, the labels are extremely misleading.

The television network commentators and the political analysts (including, unhappily, this columnist when short for space) have invariably categorized former Gov. Jimmy Carter and Sen. Henry Jackson as conservative and Rep. Morris Udall as liberal.

But Jackson is a conservative only on defense matters and a consistently strong liberal on everything else, from the environment to farm policy to civil rights. He protested on NBC's "Meet the Press" recently that he didn't want to be called a conservative because he was really a liberal.

Udall, on the other hand, doesn't want to be called a liberal anymore. He's got all the right liberal credentials, but he doesn't think this is a good political year to be described as one. He said in Milwaukee that he wished to be known hereafter as a "progressive."

As for Carter, any label for him fits as well as another since he is so vague about where he stands on most issues. If you listen - close, he sounds somewhat more conservative on economic and domestic issues than Jackson or Udall, but in the absence of specific programs it is difficult to judge. From his perspective on the right, Gov. George Wallace described Carter recently as "a warmed-over McGovern."

Carter doesn't care about labels at all. "The lesson of 1976 will be that these terms no longer apply," he wrote in me recently. "It is not inconsistent to demand that humane social goals be pursued by logical, efficient, well-planned and properly evaluated means. Whether that is liberal or conservative, I do not know, nor, frankly, do I care. I suppose I average out as a moderate which tells you nothing about how I feel on any particular issue."

Carter's attitude is extremely sensible, but political labels have been around too long and are too handy to use to disappear just because they are no longer really useful nor accurate. Common sense has never been a major characteristic of presidential campaigns.

Pigeonholing candidates as either liberal or conservative serves only to make life easier for commentators and provide a guidepost for the ideologically pure, who seem to be in short supply this year.

But it is likely that Carter and Jackson are stuck with the conservative tag and Udall with the liberal tag, whether they like it or not. In the long run, it may not make a whole lot of difference in any case.

Washington Island Wants To Weigh Anchor

It is Washington Island.

In the early days potatoes accounted for the inhabitants main source of revenue.

Potato farming is still a big thing on the island, but depending on how one interprets the Wisconsin property assessor's rulings, spuds may be big for some purposes and not so great for others.

Over the years resorting has come to the island, first in the form of rental units for those wanting to get away from the big city, primarily Chicago, more recently in the shape of outright, nonresident ownership of choice views of the surrounding waters.

This trend naturally has kited land values and just as naturally the assessor has taken note of the development.

Jack Hagen, the chairman of his township board, puts the matter in language somewhat too vivid to reproduce in this column but understandable once the adjective description is deleted from his complaint.

The taxes on his 150-acre farm until recently were $600 a year. Now they are $2,000.

This upward spiral holds generally for the year-round residents.

Hagen and his 550 constituents think this a bit much.

The villain in the piece is Wisconsin's share the wealth tax laws for public schooling.

The better heeled districts have some of their local taxes skimmed off for those less affluent.

The law's philosophy virtually forces the assessor to follow the Wisconsin real estate market with a combination telescope-microscope.

If he does not, then the high valuation district will come up short on the money to run its schools.

The town board has hired a lawyer to check out two possible escape routes.

One would be to recall Wisconsin's governor, Patrick J. Lucey, the spiritual daddy of the share the wealth tax plan.

The other would be to annex to Michigan.

Hagen and his friends regard unseating the well entrenched Lucey as less promising than shifting allegiance from the Badger to the Wolverine state.

The state line through Green Bay runs just 1½ miles north of Washington Island, so adjusting it would be, cartographically speaking, a stroke of the pen.

Unfortunately for Hagen, several other pens must first be put to paper.

The Wisconsin and Michigan legislatures must approve the transfer, followed then by Congressional approval.

The political climate being what it is at Madison, Lansing and Washington, the chance for a cozy island to slip away from the school problems in Wisconsin's depressed areas is remote.

More realistically, the only quick solution seems to be for spuds to rise in price sufficient to keep up with the local taxes.

The intriguing part of the story is the islanders viewing Michigan as a better economic haven than Wisconsin.

We are so used to reading and hearing about business giving Michigan the go by because of her high tax, pro labor policies, we overlook the fact of the U.S. having other localities which may be even more regressive.

At least Mr. Hagen, peering longingly a mile and a half to the northeast, thinks we have something going in our state.

SEES BENTON HARBOR AS WATER CAPITAL

Benton Harbor used to have a ship canal paralleling West Main street. It was filled in to make more valuable building space for a growing city, I believe. In view of Benton Harbor's current condition, increased building space downtown turns out to be superfluous. Maybe a waterway would actually be of more value than filled-in land. There's been speculation on what the future of Benton Harbor may be, and the old canal serves as a reminder of Benton Harbor's chief natural resource; its location.

The following probably couldn't happen now, but for the fun of it imagine Benton Harbor reconstructed into a water capital of the Great Lakes. Anything and everything having to do with Great Lakes and marine activities might be established. Traditional industries associated with boats and navigation and diving could be concentrated in an attractive regional center. More exciting, though, the array of related industries could become the setting of research and implementation for industries still in the drawing board stage. These range from wind, wave, and solar powered generating devices to floating city concepts. Appropriate combinations of fresh water aquaculture, waste utilization, and organic farming in and around the marina center could be designed for amenable living by ecologically aware people.

Not to be ignored would be one of the oldest of marine industries; sail ship building. I understand that someone in Germany is constructing ocean going sailing ships again. They promise to stage a comeback because of the improvements in materials, electronics, and design engineering made over the past half century. A forward looking marine center community could come in on the ground floor of such a renewed industry.

Kissinger Will Learn Words Are Not Enough

Sec. of State Kissinger's warnings to Cuba about trying any more troop exercises in Africa had better be backed by something more concrete than rhetoric. They were not in the case of Angola.

A number of governments right now must be wondering if the United States has retired permanently from the world arena after Vietnam or is recharging its batteries to show freedom loving people (a species not yet extinct) how to protect themselves from the plunderers.

If Cuban troops do show up again in Africa or another continent to help install a "government" at the point of a bayonet and the U.S. does not respond, as the secretary of state has warned it will, against Cuba, much more than national prestige will be lost.

Weak governments everywhere will begin scratching for survival with whatever new alignments they can fashion — excluding the U.S.

Fatal Driver Profile Confirmed By Study

Police departments and other agencies involved in fatal traffic accidents

have a fairly good idea of the type of driver frequently involved: Young, aggressive, with a strong possibility of alcohol involvement.

That suspicion has been confirmed by a federal Department of Transportation study of accident fatalities in four cities. A "fatal driver profile" was constructed from the results of accidents in Baltimore, Boston, Oklahoma City and Albuquerque.

Investigators found drivers most likely to cause fatal accidents were males between 25 and 35 who were heavy drinkers, usually single and driving an older car. The accidents usually occurred in the early morning hours on weekends.

Many variables enter into averages, so the above profile by no means covers all accidents. It is the predominant theme, at least in the four cities studied, and thus provides a basis for determining ways of reducing the accident toll. The four cities for the past three years have been supported by federal funds in crackdowns on drunken drivers and efforts at rehabilitation.

Publicizing the "fatal driver profile" and developing effective programs to prevent susceptible drivers from falling into the pattern would be efforts well spent.

Stockman, Daugherty 'Agreeable'

Disagree On Only 2 Of 6 Issues At School

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

Congressional candidates David Stockman, Republican, and Richard Daugherty, Democrat, disagreed on only two of six issues in a face to face encounter before Milton junior high school students yesterday in St. Joseph. Fourth-District seat The two candidates for the now held by Edward Hutchinson argued over foreign policy and nuclear power.

They were not in conflict in their opposition to a constitutional amendment to change the supreme court decision on abortion; busing to achieve racial balance in schools; certain anti-crime legislation; and a ban on handguns.

However six other issues students had intended to present to the candidates went unanswered as time ran out in the program before some 400 Milton students and 30 adults.

Stockman, 29, of St. Joseph, and Daugherty, 54, of Dowagiac were making their first joint appearance of the campaign to succeed Hutchinson, who has announced he will not seek reelection.

Students posed the question: "Should foreign nations be supplied with military supplies and economic aid when they are in danger of communist takeover or when their loyalty to the U.S. is in question."

Daugherty, who responded first said the Vietnam war was an example of American failure to prevent Communist takeover. He added: "Right now we have more or less a public mandate that the U.S. is going to keep out of other people's military affairs overseas."

Stockman said it was easy to find all kinds of examples the past 30 years where foreign policy plans misfired. But he cited the example of Egypt where as a result of American diplomacy a wedge has been driven between two previous allies, Egypt and Russia.

Daugherty chided Stockman that the question was on countries that were in danger of communist takeover and the American success in Egypt was a case of bargaining.

Stockman responded that three years ago there were a thousand Soviet troops in Egypt, and as a result of American policy, they were ordered out.

Daugherty accused Stockman of taking the special interest line for utilities by advocating expansion of nuclear generating plants. Stockman accused Daugherty of minimizing the potential for drastic shortages of energy.

Daugherty said hydro-electric power, fusion and coal offer alternatives to nuclear power. He stressed the untapped reserves of coal. Stockman said every engineering report indicates new power sources will not be ready until 2020. He added that until the sulphur in coal is neutralized, burning that fuel will cancel out the environmental gains made the past few years.

The two candidates received enthusiastic applause.

Rodez Says Politics Hurting Crime Fight

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor Police Chief Andrew Rodez yesterday blamed increasing political problems in Benton Harbor for a declining concern about the fight against crime.

"Nobody's talking about the crime problem anymore," Rodez told the St. Joseph Lions club yesterday. "It seems as though I'm not fighting crime anymore — I'm fighting politics."

Rodez attributed a decline in participation in the city's crime prevention program to "political controversies over the past couple months."

Rodez did not mention any specific political problems at the Lions club meeting.

But he was cast into an already-heated political scene March 2 when City Commissioner Helen Ford charged that he was engaged "in what appeared to be a conspiracy to carry out the assassination of the mayor." Rodez has denied the charge and demanded a retraction.

Rodez urged St. Joseph Lions club members to participate in crime prevention programs, saying crime prevention should not be a community program, but a national one.

"The crime problem is spreading," Rodez said. "The hoods are going where the money is. They are going to visit you."

Rodez spoke to some 30 members of the St. Joseph Lions club at the St. Joseph Elks club yesterday.

Pipestone Mall Developer Asks Cut In Parking Rule

The Benton township planning commission last night set a public hearing for April 22 on a request from developers of the Pipestone Mall to make changes which would cut the amount of required parking at the proposed mall in half.

Atty. James Ford, the township's assistant attorney, told commissioners last night that he had received a request from Meyer C. Weiner Co., Oak Brook, Ill., developer of the mall, to make amendments to the township's commercial zoning ordinance for less parking space.

Under the present ordinance, retail stores are required to provide one parking space for every 100 square feet of store space. The developers are requesting an amendment which would change the requirement to one parking space for every 200 square feet of store space.

Atty. Ford explained that shopping malls are currently defined as "retail stores" in the township ordinance. He said the change in required parking space would be in line with other major shopping malls in Michigan. The developers are also requesting to be defined as a "regional shopping center" in the ordinance, he said.

Plans for the mall were first announced in 1974. The Weiner Co. purchased 300 acres between Pipestone road, I-94 and Napier avenue. No stores have yet been built.

However, reports have circulated that a J.L. Hudson company department store will be the anchor for Pipestone Mall with construction starting in 1977.

In other action, the planning commission re-elected its present officers to one-year terms. Re-elected were James Benson, chairman; Dr. Charles Duncan, vice chairman, and Earl Patterson, secretary. Benson was elected to his fifth term as chairman.

The planning commission gave informal approval to an application by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation to construct a new Somerleyton bridge over the St. Joseph river on US-31 (also M-139).

The state highway department is currently applying for $784,000 from the federal Highway Administration to construct a new three-span bridge, according to James Muldoon, senior planner for the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission. The funds will be matched with $300,000 from the state highway department, he said.

The planning commission was asked to comment on the new bridge in a letter from the Hydrological Survey Division of the state Department of Natural Resources.

The commission recommended approval of requests for combining two parcels of land by James Jones, 843 Waukonda avenue, and Mr. and Mrs.

Thomas Fogarty, 2814 Red Arrow highway.

Sent to committee for further study was a request by Rev. Elvis Lawson, 2525 Territorial road, for a license to operate a second-hand store, and a request by Joseph Singleton, for a junk car license at 2189 Townline road.

Berrien Sheriff's Marine Division Offers Youths Free Boating Classes

The Marine Division of the Berrien County Sheriff's department will offer free boating classes for youths 12 to 16 years of age, from 7 to 9 p.m., April 6 and 13 at the county courthouse, according to Lt. William R. Beilman, marine officer. Beilman said the youths must take the classes and pass a written examination to obtain Michigan Boating Safety certificates that permit them to operate boats over six horsepower by themselves. Students are provided course texts and the course will cover Michigan boating laws, safe boat handling, and first aid, Beilman said.

Phone Manager Gets BUW Post

Edward A. Mabin, Michigan Bell Telephone district manager in Benton Harbor, has been appointed chairman of the Public division of the 1976 Blossomland United Way campaign, according to Dr. Walter Browne, general campaign chairman.

The Public division scored the highest unit percentage in the record-breaking 1975 campaign when volunteers in the division hit 120.3 per cent of their target. Mabin cited the education section of the division as one of the highest performers. Pledges in this section soared to 138 per cent over goal.

Mabin plans to recruit chairmen for the government, utilities, and agencies sections as well as education. He pointed out that the government section is unique in that it contains a separate campaign organization for federal employees. The combined federal campaign includes solicitations for non-

United Way national and international social and health agencies. BUW splits the proceeds with these organizations, Mabin said.

Mabin took his present post for Michigan Bell in January 1975, having worked in various sales capacities for the company in the Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo areas since 1964. He is a former congressional staffer in the U.S. House of Representatives in Washington, D.C.

A member of the Blossomland United Way Board of directors, Mabin also serves on the advisory board of the Michigan

Woolworth's Operation Of Plaza Postal Substation Will Continue

Woolworth's department store will continue to operate the U.S. Postal substation at Fairplain plaza, according to Benton Harbor Postmaster Robert Brown.

A new bid which will raise payments to Woolworth's from $1,150 to $3,000 a year to operate the substation was approved by the U.S. Postal Service, Brown said.

The contract for the substation at the plaza has been held by Woolworth's since 1966. Woolworth's had been receiving $1,150 a year to run the station but did not want to continue at that rate, according to Brown.

John Duffney, manager of the Woolworth store, said operation of the substation is costing Woolworth's $8,000 a year in salaries. The station, located in the rear of the store, is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. six days a week and the store pays a clerk to run it.

Noting that the contract does not pay expenses, Brown said a contractor hopes a substation will generate enough traffic to increase regular retail business and offset expenses. Woolworth's was the only store submitting a bid for operation of the substation, Brown said. Several other inquiries were made to the Post office offering to rent buildings and have the post office operate the substation, Brown said.

Woolworth's will begin the new contract, which is negotiable at any time by either party, April 1. Bids to operate the substation were taken from Feb. 6 to 23. Woolworth's continued to operate the substation during that time.

St. Joe Division's 'Irish' Is Retiring

Scores of St. Joseph Division employees yesterday said goodbye to George (Irish) Dioguard, who has nearly a half century of service with Whirlpool Corp. A special reception was held in his honor. Dioguard of St. Joseph will officially retire on March 31. He will be 65 years old on March 29. He retires with the most seniority of anyone from the division.

GEORGE DIOGUARD
Most seniority

Dioguard started with Nine-teen Hundred Corp. on June 3, 1927. His first job was to partially mount the washing machine motor to the unit with four bolts. A few weeks later he was assigned to the tool crib.

He spent 33 years in various machine shops in the St. Joseph Division. Since 1960 he has worked a number of jobs in the tool crib. Dioguard retires with the title of stockkeeper of tools and supplies.

Dioguard started with the company when he was 16 years old, a few days after graduating from the eighth grade of Hull school, Benton township.

He was nicknamed "Irish" in 1927 by a foreman who thought the little Italian was as different from being Irish as anyone could be. Somehow the nickname stuck.

Dioguard and his wife, the former Velma Huelberg of St. Joseph, plan to visit California and Texas, then visit a son, Cmdr. Vernon W. Peters, who is with the U.S. embassy in London. The Dioguards also plan to tour Europe.

Barry Davis, Stockman's campaign manager, said proceeds from event hadn't been counted as of this morning. Affair was co-sponsored by Stockman for Congress and Herman Berghoff, owner of Tosi's. Stockman's campaign got another boost when State Sen. Charles O. Zollar, announced he won't be a candidate for Congress. (Staff photo)

Stockman, Daugherty 'Agreeable'

Disagree On Only 2 Of 6 Issues At School

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

Congressional candidates David Stockman, Republican, and Richard Daugherty, Democrat, disagreed on only two of six issues in a face to face encounter before Milton junior high school students yesterday in St. Joseph. Fourth District seat The two candidates for the now held by Edward Hutchinson argued over foreign policy and nuclear power.

They were not in conflict in their opposition to a constitutional amendment to change the supreme court decision on abortion; busing to achieve racial balance in schools; certain anti-crime legislation; and a ban on handguns.

However six other issues students had intended to present to the candidates went unanswered as time ran out in the program before some 400 Milton students and 30 adults.

Stockman, 29, of St. Joseph, and Daugherty, 54, of Dowagiac were making their first joint appearance of the campaign to succeed Hutchinson, who has announced he will not seek reelection.

Students posed the question: "Should foreign nations be supplied with military supplies and economic aid when they are in danger of communist takeover or when their loyalty to the U.S. is in question."

Daugherty, who responded first said the Vietnam war was an example of American failure to prevent Communist takeover. He added: "Right now we have more or less a public mandate that the U.S. is going to keep out of other people's military affairs overseas."

Stockman said it was easy to find all kinds of examples the past 30 years where foreign policy plans misfired. But he cited the example of Egypt where as a result of American diplomacy a wedge has been driven between two previous allies, Egypt and Russia.

Daugherty chided Stockman that the question was on countries that were in danger of communist takeover and the American success in Egypt was a case of bargaining.

Stockman responded that three years ago there were a thousand Soviet troops in Egypt, and as a result of American policy, they were ordered out.

Daugherty accused Stockman of taking the special interest line for utilities by advocating expansion of nuclear generating plants. Stockman accused Daugherty of minimizing the potential for drastic shortages of energy.

Daugherty said hydro-electric power, fusion and coal offer alternatives to nuclear power. He stressed the untapped reserves of coal. Stockman said every engineering report indicates new power sources will not be ready until 2020. He added that until the sulphur in coal is neutralized, burning that fuel will cancel out the environmental gains made the past few years.

The two candidates received enthusiastic applause.

Rodez Says Politics Hurting Crime Fight

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor Police Chief Andrew Rodez yesterday blamed increasing political problems in Benton Harbor for a declining concern about the fight against crime.

"Nobody's talking about the crime problem anymore," Rodez told the St. Joseph Lions club yesterday. "It seems as though I'm not fighting crime anymore — I'm fighting politics."

Rodez attributed a decline in participation in the city's crime prevention program to "political controversies over the past couple months."

Rodez did not mention any specific political problems at the Lions club meeting.

But he was cast into an already-heated political scene March 2 when City Commissioner Helen Ford charged that he was engaged "in what appeared to be a conspiracy to carry out the assassination of the mayor." Rodez has denied the charge and demanded a retrial.

Rodez urged St. Joseph Lions club members to participate in crime prevention programs, saying crime prevention should not be a community program, but a national one.

TWIN CITIES SYMPHONY Concert Sunday

BARRY ROSS
Guest Artist Sunday

Twin Cities Symphony's fifth concert of the current season will salute America's Bicentennial.

The concert will be held at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, March 28, in the auditorium of St. Joseph high school and will feature the works of American composers.

The symphony, under the direction of Robert Vudny, conductor and music director, will perform "Fanfare for the Common Man" by Aaron Copland, "Recitative for Orchestra" by Dr. Charles Hall, "Overture to West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein, the "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" by Samuel Barber and the Suite from "The Incredible Flutist" by Walter Piston.

Barry Ross of Kalamazoo will be the featured soloist in the Barber work.

Ross was born in Brockton, Mass., and served as concertmaster and soloist with the Hartford Festival Orchestra while an undergraduate at the Hartt College of Music. He later served in these capacities with the American Chamber orchestra during its 1970 tour of Greece while completing graduate studies at Yale university. He earned his doctor of music arts degree from Yale in 1973.

He is currently professor of music at Kalamazoo college and serves as concertmaster for the Kalamazoo symphony and Bach Festival society.

Aaron Copland wrote the "Fanfare for the Common Man" in 1941. It was later incorporated as the beginning of the fourth movement to his third symphony. Among his other well-known works are the ballet "Appalachian Spring," "Rodeo" and the "Lincoln Portrait."

Dr. Charles J. Hall of Andrews university wrote the "Recitative for Orchestra" in 1967. The work's first performance was in 1971 by the Houston symphony. The revised version, completed in 1973, will receive its premiere performance in Sunday's concert.

Dr. Hall holds degrees from Andrews university and Michigan State university. He currently teaches theory and composition at AU.

Of all the contributions American has made to the theatre, that of musical comedy is likely to be the most lasting and rewarding, according to a symphony spokesman.

With music by Leonard Bernstein and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, "West Side Story" presents the Shakespeare story of "Romeo and Juliet" in a contemporary setting. Bernstein has written four successful musicals as well as symphonic and choral works.

Charlotte Wheeler, first chair flutist for the symphony, will be featured in the performance of the Suite from "The Incredible Flutist."

Peanut Butter: At Least 90 Per Cent Peanuts

Peanut butter is widely accepted as a nutritious food. But a survey of peanut butter users shows that most homemakers under-estimate its virtues.

The survey purpose was to find out how well consumers understand the Federal Standard of Identity for Peanut Butter, in effect since 1971.

Only about 12 per cent who responded knew that the Standard requires every peanut butter jar to have a peanut content of at least 90 per cent. The majority by far gave answers much below 90 per cent. More people answered 50 per cent than did those who correctly specified 90 per cent.

The high peanut content is the reason peanut butter is about 26 per cent protein, a level higher than most other protein foods. It is the peanut content also that provides worthwhile amounts of niacin and other B vitamins.

The Peanut Butter Standard of Identity, aside from requiring 90-per cent minimum peanut content, forbids use of artificial flavoring, artificial sweeteners, chemical preservatives or color additives. The Standard applies to all peanut butter — national and regional brands and private-label.

Other products, labeled

"Peanut Spread" or "Imitation Peanut Butter," are not subject to the Standard of Identity. There is no requirement for a minimum peanut content for those products, and no restriction on use of artificial flavors or other additives which are forbidden in peanut butter.

Twin Cities Symphony's fifth concert of the current season will salute America's Bicentennial.

The concert will be held at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, March 28, in the auditorium of St. Joseph high school and will feature the works of American composers.

The symphony, under the direction of Robert Vodnoy, conductor and music director, will perform "Fanfare for the Common Man" by Aaron Copland, "Recitative for Orchestra" by Dr. Charles Hall, "Overture to West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein, the "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra" by Samuel Barber and the Suite from "The Incredible Flutist" by Walter Piston.

Barry Ross of Kalamazoo will be the featured soloist in the Barber work.

Ross was born in Brockton, Mass., and served as concertmaster and soloist with the Hartford Festival orchestra while an undergraduate at the Hartt College of Music. He later served in these capacities with the American Chamber orchestra during its 1970 tour of Greece while completing graduate studies at Yale university. He earned his doctor of music arts degree from Yale in 1975.

He is currently professor of music at Kalamazoo college and serves as concertmaster for the Kalamazoo symphony and Bach Festival society.

Aaron Copland wrote the "Fanfare for the Common Man" in 1941. It was later incorporated as the beginning of the fourth movement to his third symphony. Among his other well-known works are the ballet "Appalachian Spring," "Rodeo" and the "Lincoln Portrait."

Dr. Charles J. Hall of Andrews university wrote the "Recitative for Orchestra" in 1967. The work's first performance was in 1971 by the Houston symphony. The revised version, completed in 1973, will receive its premiere performance in Sunday's concert.

Dr. Hall holds degrees from Andrews university and Michigan State university. He currently teaches theory and composition at AU.

Of all the contributions American has made to the theatre, that of musical comedy is likely to be the most lasting and rewarding, according to a symphony spokesman.

With music by Leonard Bernstein and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, "West Side Story" presents the Shakespeare story of "Romeo and Juliet" in a contemporary setting. Bernstein has written four successful musicals as well as symphonic and choral works.

Charlotte Wuepper, first chair flutist for the symphony, will be featured in the performance of the Suite from "The Incredible Flutist."

Renewal Night

Renewal night will be held during the Sunday, March 28, concert of the Twin Cities Symphony.

The event will offer current members the opportunity to renew memberships for the 1976-77 season and others to become new subscribers.

Peanut Butter: At Least 90 Per Cent Peanuts

Peanut butter is widely accepted as a nutritious food. But a survey of peanut butter users shows that most homemakers under-estimate its virtues.

The survey purpose was to find out how well consumers understand the Federal Standard of Identity for Peanut Butter, in effect since 1971.

Only about 12 per cent who responded knew that the Standard requires every peanut butter jar to have a peanut content of at least 90 per cent. The majority by far gave answers much below 90 per cent. More people answered 50 per cent than did those who correctly specified 90 per cent.

The high peanut content is the reason peanut butter is about 26 per cent protein, a level higher than most other protein foods. It is the peanut content also that provides worthwhile amounts of niacin and other B vitamins.

The Peanut Butter Standard of Identity, aside from requiring 90-per cent minimum peanut content, forbids use of artificial flavoring, artificial sweeteners, chemical preservatives or color additives. The Standard applies to all peanut butter — national and regional brands and private-label.

Other products, labeled

"Peanut Spread" or "Imitation Peanut Butter," are not subject to the Standard of Identity. There is no requirement for a minimum peanut content for those products, and no restriction on use of artificial flavors or other additives which are forbidden in peanut butter.

Nearly 80: BH Woman Travels Around The World

Unscheduled, Unfettered, Unafraid

By DICK DERRICK
Staff Writer

Lina Thornton Marshall went around the world alone, unscheduled, unfettered and unafraid.

She had the time of her life. She is five feet, two inches tall and lost 15 pounds, dropping from 120 to 104½ pounds.

Mrs. Marshall will be 80 years old on April 15.

By her own designation a traveler, not a tourist, Mrs. Marshall reasoned that God made the whole universe, not just the country in which she was born in. She contends God can be found in other lands and in all people and she found this to be a truth she experienced on her six-month journey around the world.

"I was never exhausted, fearful, lonesome or without lodging or food," she said. Her formula for a successful trip is to have patience, an inexhaustible supply of endurance and be ready to do a lot of walking.

She traveled light so that when she had to carry her luggage it did not drag her to a halt.

Mrs. Marshall suffered a cold, was ill with dysentery after drinking local water and at times may have been forced to wait a couple days to resume her journey. The illnesses never stopped her completely and she used the delays to go local sightseeing.

She traveled by jet, ship, train and bus. She stayed in apartment hotels, youth hostels, YWCA's and in private homes. Most of all she met people. She said people around the world are friendly and generous when they get to know each other.

But she soon learned a precautionary tip. In a country where there is strife — she was in Portugal during the leftist upheaval in that country — keep away from crowds.

She said in looking back that she wished she could speak another language. One of the most welcome sounds is someone saying: "Can I help you?" in English.

Conversely, she said she was never so deflated when, at a border crossing, with security forces summoned, an inspector commented: "Don't worry about her, she can only speak English."

The six-month odyssey—from Sept. 8 to March 8—look her to England, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, East and West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, Jordan, Israel, India, Thailand, Australia, The Philippines, Hong Kong, Japan and back to the United States via Hawaii.

Cost of the trip was approximately $7,000. She decided to take the trip several years ago and with that as an inspiration saved the money from her job as a teacher's aide at Columbus school in Benton Harbor. She said there are always more reasons why a person should not do something so she decided to just be positive about the whole trip.

Mrs. Marshall had a 21-inch suitcase and a large shoulder bag. She picked up another bag in Athens to carry some of the mementoes she had gathered along the way.

She had an all-weather coat, a pair of grey slacks, green and red flannel shirts, a three-piece washable pant suit, a plain jumper dress and accessories. She would recommend taking another pant suit and extra slacks along. Surprisingly, she said, she experienced no difficulty in traveling in man-like garb in foreign nations.

Weather was not a problem. She was in cold countries during the pleasant fall weather and in the hot countries when it was coolest.

Mrs. Marshall ran into enough experiences to fill a book and that is what she plans to do. She already has started getting her notes in order to write a book of her travels.

She took a small camera but didn't take many pictures. Mostly she collected post cards of places she visited.

She traveled at her own pace. For instance she bought a 21-day Eurail pass which permitted unlimited train travel in Western Europe. She ended up in Lisbon, Portugal when the pass expired. She took a cruise in the Mediterranean to Italy and Greece. She said she liked boat travel best of all.

Mrs. Marshall spent five weeks in India, visiting that country on another rail pass. She spent the Christmas holiday in Madras, India and celebrated New Year's with an Indian family she met in Calcutta.

She enjoyed meeting and watching people. One day in Madras after watching four women and two men laboriously digging a basement and carrying away the dirt in containers balanced on their heads, she went down and gave each a rupee. The gesture cost her 75 cents. For each of the workers the rupee represented a fifth of their day's wages. She said she did not wish to contribute to beggars but decided to reward those who were industrious.

LINA THORNTON MARSHALL

An experienced traveler, Mrs. Marshall had visited various parts of the United States, but on her around-the-world trip she re-learned a lot of valuable travel tips. She quickly learned when to surrender her baggage to porters, how to make travel plans in strange places and when to have travel and housing reservations in advance.

Only three times did she reserve rooms ahead—that was when she went to Manila, Hong Kong and Tokyo. The reservations for a large hotel in Tokyo was especially convenient. A brusque doorman halted her with the question: "Lady do you have a reservation for this hotel?" Mrs. Marshall laughed at the recollection. It was a hotel in which the guests usually arrived in limousines with porters carrying their luggage. Mrs. Marshall arrived carrying two bags and looking a little the worse for wear after a long flight.

Once established she could look for a more economical place to stay.

In Hawaii, for instance, she found a youth hostel where she bunked in with half dozen students. She took her meals at a cafeteria across the street at the University of Hawaii.

She utilized hotels for many services, using their beauty shops, restaurants and travel offices for local information.

In Egypt she encountered a man, trying to catch a plane and delayed because the hotel clerk would not accept his American money. Mrs. Marshall traded her Egyptian money for the American currency and received a warm invitation to visit New Zealand. She could not make that side trip from Australia but it demonstrates that being helpful and friendly opens doors.

When Mrs. Marshall was getting her inoculation shots the nurse said she had a pen pal in Australia. So when Mrs. Marshall was in Sydney she visited the pen pal and had a pleasant visit. She brought a present back for the nurse from the pen pal.

Mrs. Marshall is a native of Benton Harbor and lives at Briarwood in Benton township but will shortly move to Blossom Acres. She was a graduate in the first class of Benton Harbor Community college, forerunner of Lake Michigan college.

She worked at the Upton

Machine Co., before it was Whirlpool and has worked as a nurse's aide at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor and for the past three years as a teacher's aide at Columbus school in Benton Harbor.

The trip around the world has only whetted her appetite for more travel. She wants to visit Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Better Burned Than Saved

Dear Ann: When I was a graduate student in college, I had a homosexual experience. At the time, I had been married to a wonderful man for three years. It was a traumatic period in my life and I was afraid my marriage would not survive. In an effort to sort out my feelings, I kept a detailed journal in which I expressed my deep devotion for my woman friend.

That was three years ago. Miraculously, our marriage did survive. We moved to another city and I broke off with my lover completely. Soon after, I became pregnant. We now have a beautiful little daughter and my husband and I couldn't be happier.

My problem: Should I destroy the journal? It is well hidden, but I have this terrible fear that if I should die suddenly or if it is discovered by the wrong person it could be very damaging. (My husband knows of the affair.) I am torn because I spent an enormous amount of time writing that journal and one day I might want to use it as the basis for a novel. What do you advise?

— Nam de Plume

Dear Plume: Put a match to it. That journal represents a chapter of your life that is over — and one that might have resulted in total disaster. You will feel greatly relieved once you've destroyed it.

Whack Her

Dear Ann Landers: You're not going to believe this but I beg of you to take me seriously. I'm a 16-year-old girl. The problem is my 12-year-old sister. She is making a nervous wreck out of me.

Pat has the idea that the way to have fun is to scare the living daylight out of a person. No matter where I go in the house, she is lurking behind a door, ready to jump out and scream,

"I gotcha!" Or she'll hide under my bed at night and after I've turned out the light she'll suddenly pounce on me like an animal. Last night she hid under the dinner table and bit my leg. I nearly fainted.

Is this girl a little nuts? Has she seen too many horror movies? Or is there something wrong with my sense of humor? If I'm a "snurps" (as she calls me) please say so and I'll try to be a better sport. In the meantime, what should I do? — Heck Of A Wreck

Dear Wreck: Are you an orphan? Where are your parents when all these "jokes" are being pulled? Pat needs some firm discipline and since your mother and dad have obviously abdicated their responsibility, you have a right to protect yourself.

The next time Little Sis jumps out of a closet, pounces, bites, or does anything else to scare you, let her have it — with a whack on the backside. I seldom advocate physical retaliation, but in this case I believe it's the only way to cure that nutty kid.

No Calls

Dear Ann Landers: You have a knack for exposing gross violations of simple etiquette. Will you please say something about people who have telephones beside their dining tables and insist on carrying on long conversations while they are eating? It's so rude it makes me sick. Thanks, Ann. — Super Bugged

Dear Super: The solution is simple. Repeat as follows: "Please phone me when you've finished eating. I can't understand a thing you say when you have food in your mouth."

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Erma Bombeck

Misplaced Child

Ever since I read a newspaper article about myself stating I was the mother of four, I've gone crazy trying to find the other kid. Newspapers don't lie. If they said I have four children, then it stands to reason I've misplaced one.

You know something? I think I just found the missing Bombeck. His name is I. Dumno. Everyone sees him but me. All I know is he's rotten.

Who left the front door open?

I. Dumno

Who let the soap melt down the drain?

I. Dumno

Who ate the banana I was saving for the cake?

I. Dumno

Frankly, I. Dumno is driving me nuts. He's lost two umbrellas, four pairs of boots and a bicycle. He has 13 books overdue from the library, hasn't brought home a paper from school in three years, and once left a thermos of milk in the car for three weeks.

The other day the phone rang. I ran from the mailbox, cut my leg, tore off a fingernail in the door, and got to the phone in time to see my son hanging up.

"Who was it?" I asked breathlessly.

"I. Dumno. He hung up."

"The little jerk could have let it ring a few more times," I grumbled.

When I told my neighbor about it, she said "Cheer up. I've had an invisible child for years."

"What's his name?" I asked miserably.

"Nobody."

"Is he rotten?" I asked.

"He makes Dennis the Menace look like a statue. He cracked the top of an heirloom candy dish, tears up the paper before anyone gets to read it, and once when I was driving the car pool he nearly knocked me senseless with a ball bat."

"Hah," I said bitterly. "You should have seen I. Dumno. He left 13 lights burning the other night when he went out. I don't know how much longer I can stand it."

This morning at breakfast I said to my husband, "Who wants liver for dinner this evening?"

My husband looked up and said, "I. Dumno."

I. Dumno has a brother.

This session will be divided into one hour sessions each. Stan Beckmann, Fernwood's director, and Scott Bornmann, the center's ground supervisor, will be instructors.

Michigan State University and has had experience with roadside establishment research for the University of Massachusetts.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I think I've made a discovery. After drinking milk for 48 years, I've come to the conclusion that many of my symptoms are due to it. Have you known people who develop intestinal problems and gas from milk? If I stop it, will I be depriving myself of an important part of my diet?

Mrs. K.R., R.I.

Dear Mrs. R.: Milk is close to being the so-called perfect food. It supplies the protein, the minerals and vitamins essential for growth. Children, of course, are best served by this important nutritious substance.

You no longer need milk, especially if there is the slightest suggestion that it is responsible for your distress.

There are many excellent substitutes for milk that can supply nutritious elements. Minerals and vitamins can be found in many other foods.

A great many people have an intolerance to one of the milk sugars, especially lactose. You are one of the fortunate ones who may have, by trial and error, found his allergic-like response. Others may not be so fortunate and go on for many years suffering from this condition.

Is it true that bacteria in the mouth and in the intestines serve a real purpose? Do these same germs cause infection?

Miss B.B., Mich.

Dear Miss B.: At the time of birth the intestinal tract is free from bacteria. Soon thereafter germs, or bacteria, favorable to the body are present.

It is well known that bacteria in the intestines may play an important role in the manufacture of some types of vitamins. It is for this reason that vitamin supplements are important to those people who take large quantities of antibiotics over a long period of time. The antibiotics which kill the bacteria may thus interfere with the production of vitamins. Not all bacteria are disease causing. These are known as pathogens.

Many bacteria play an important role in maintaining the health functions of the body.

The same Iowa reader wants to know what we bid next after responding two clubs to partner's spade opening with:

▲ x x ♥ A K x x ♦ x x x
▲ A Q x x if he rebids two spades.

With one of our favorite partners we would raise to three spades. With others we would bid two notrump.

Either call is generally satisfactory.

West's queen of spades is allowed to hold the first trick. He continues the suit and dummy is in with the king.

A low diamond is led and it is up to you to play from the East hand. What do you play?

If you have been reading this week's articles, you should have no problem. You play your ace of diamonds. Second hand high!

This play is not at all hard to make in a bridge column. It is much tougher at the table, yet any expert worth his salt would make it.

He can see that the only way to beat three notrump will be for his partner to score some spade tricks. He can also see that West can't hold much in high cards. But he can be looking at the king or queen of diamonds and it is up to East to let him keep that high diamond in his hand until the ace of spades is knocked out.

Nixon Threatened Suicide Before Quitting, Says Book

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book reportedly paints a picture of former President Richard M. Nixon drinking too much, weeping and threatening suicide during his last days in the White House.

The former president's suicide talk so disturbed his aides, according to reports on the book, that they removed all medication from his medicine chest.

The book is "The Final Days," by Watergate reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein of The Washington Post. Time Magazine and the New York Daily News say it has been closely guarded prior to its publication next month by Simon and Schuster and serialization of excerpts beginning Monday in Newsweek.

According to the report in Time, as amplified by columnist Liz Smith of the Daily News, the book relates that in the days before his resignation Nixon spent much of his time drinking in a small office in the Executive Office Building, either alone or with Press Secretary Ron Ziegler.

The News says that Nixon's son-in-law, David Eisenhower, expressed concern for Nixon's mental condition, reporting to an aide that he had seen the president, intoxicated, talking to the portraits of former presidents.

Time says that as the end neared, Nixon asked Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to kneel and pray with him, saying: "You are not a very orthodox Jew and I am not an orthodox Quaker, but we need to pray."

The News says that after the prayer Nixon began crying, screaming and beating his fists on the floor.

Even though Ziegler was one of the former president's few confidantes in the final days, Time says, the press secretary sometimes became the object of Nixon's temper and that Nixon was heard on one occasion screaming at Ziegler, "Get out! Get out!"

When Nixon summoned his family, wife, daughters and sons-in-law, for a final White House photograph, says Time, White House photographer Ollie Atkins had to shoot for some time to get a picture which did not show tears on any of their faces.

Woodward and Bernstein's investigative reporting about the Watergate burglary and coverup won a Pulitzer Prize for The Washington Post. They are also authors of "All the President's Men," a book about their work on uncovering the scandals. It has been made into a movie.

FBI Still Without Good Leads In Hoffa Search

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — After interviewing hundreds of witnesses in New Jersey, Michigan and elsewhere, "we have nothing in the way of concrete leads," on the disappearance of James R. Hoffa, the new head of the New Jersey FBI office said Thursday.

Louis Giovenetti said the FBI's plans to dig up a Jersey

City dump were abandoned because the information that someone, perhaps Hoffa, was buried there, was too sketchy. Moscatto's Dump is 67 acres in area.

"I wish we could report that we have something, but frankly, we don't have too much," Giovenetti said of the Hoffa case.

Hoffa was last seen outside a Bloomfield Township restaurant July 30.

He had told several persons beforehand he was on his way to meet reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone (and New Jersey Teamsters figure Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano.

Witnesses say Giacalone was at the Southfield Athletic Club the afternoon Hoffa vanished. Provenzano says he was at a union hall in New Jersey the afternoon of July 30.

17-Year-Old Awaiting Term Of Up To Life

By ALAN AREND Staff Writer

ALLEGAN — Vincent Dwight Peckens, 17, a Martin high school junior, pleaded guilty Wednesday in Circuit court here to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. However, it was stated on the record that Peckens would be allowed to withdraw his guilty plea and stand trial if it appears Allegan Circuit Judge George Corsiglia is going to sentence Peckens to a minimum of more than 5 1/2 years, according to Fred "Rick" Hunter, Allegan county prosecutor.

Maximum penalty for assault with intent to commit murder is life imprisonment. Peckens was placed on pre-sentence investigation.

Hunter said another charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct against Peckens was dropped by his office, following Peckens' guilty plea Wednesday. Hunter said the charge could be reinstated if it appears Peckens is going to withdraw his plea.

Peckens was accused of the June 12, 1975, rape and knifing of a 20-year-old Otsego woman at a gravel pit north of Otsego in southeast Allegan county.

He was 16 at the time of the alleged offense.

Peckens, while free on bond, was a starting member of the Martin high school basketball team this past winter.

Peckens was taken into custody after state police from the Wayland post were summoned to a gravel and sand pit north of Otsego by area residents who reported hearing screams.

There, officers found a 20-year-old Otsego woman. She told police her attacker had raped and stabbed her and strangled her chest and stomach until she stopped screaming. She said her attacker tried to bury her in a shallow grave he dug by hand and she was pushed into it repeatedly whenever she tried to escape.

Peckens was taken into custody near the gravel pit where the alleged attack occurred. His car was stuck in mud when police arrived. The woman said she managed to crawl from the makeshift grave and stop a motorist after her attacker left her.

Police said the woman suffered 11 stab wounds, including three deep slashes across her throat. She was released from Phipps Community hospital, Plainwell, a week after the alleged attack.

The 16-foot-3 youth was taken into circuit court for trial after losing a legal battle to have the case handled in juvenile court.

His attorney is Harry Beach of Plainwell.

Peckens remains free on $10,000 bond.

Berrien Springs Board 'Pink Slips' 19 Teachers

By LARRY MacINTYRE Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board in a special meeting yesterday voted to notify 19 of the district's 28 probationary teachers they may not be rehired next fall because of a possible lack of finances.

Supt. Jon Schuster said pink slips would be sent out today to the 19 teachers.

Explaining the need to send out the pink slips, Schuster said, "There is no guarantee today that the Berrien Springs school board will be able to pay those people in September. It's just that simple."

The pink slipping action was taken now because state law requires that probationary teachers be given 60 days notice if they are not going to be rehired, Schuster said.

He said the school board waited as long as it could before making the decision in the hope that the state legislature would approve its school funding package for 1976-77. Gov. William Milliken has proposed an overall 3.7 per cent school aid increase for 1976-77, but the legislature has yet to act on it.

Berrien Springs is at least the fifth school district in southwestern Michigan to pink slip some of its teachers because of reduced finances.

Hartford has sent out 28 pink slips, Eau Claire, 15, Fennville, 12, and Buchanan, 14. The Michigan Association of School Boards has predicted a total of 3,100 teachers statewide will be fired this June because of the financial crunch.

Schuster indicated that all 19 teachers would be the first to be rehired if funding becomes available.

Schuster said school funding in Michigan is now in "a total state of chaos."

He said the April state aid payment was the third this school year to be split in two parts and that will "raise havoc with the cash flow." He said he has no reason to believe the situation will improve in the 1976-77 school year.

Stanley Macklin, director of business affairs, told the board he was projecting a total loss of $403,041 in school district revenues for the two-year period from September, 1976, to June, 1977.

He said that loss includes a total of $106,000 in reduced state aid, a total of $217,041 in reduced, property tax income, and the additional cost of $80,000 in unemployment costs if all 19 teachers are not rehired.

Schuster noted that a 3.2 mill property tax levy expired with the last tax collection. If that is not renewed by voters in the June school elections, the district will lose about $182,000 of income, he said.

He said the board is waiting until the last possible moment to decide how much of a renewal to ask for in June.

"When we go to the voters we want to know what we're talking about, and right now, we don't know what Lansing is going to do," Schuster said.

The school district employed 184 teachers in 1975-76, and had a student population of 2,384, according to Schuster.

Metro Stakeout Ends In Arrests, Officers Report

A stakeout against thefts of citizens' hand radios resulted in the arrest of two young men Thursday night, Berrien Metro crime officers reported.

Officers said they saw a man allegedly break into a parked pickup truck, take a CB unit and carry it back to a waiting car. Officers were on a stakeout at the Sundowner bar, 8032 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of larceny from a motor vehicle, possession of stolen property and possession of a sawed-off shotgun were Frey Lee Brooks and Matthew Burrell Yow, both 18 and of Route 3, box 386, Riverside road, Rural Benton Harbor.

Owner of the pickup was not identified. A sawed-off shotgun was allegedly found in the vehicle used by the pair, officers reported.

A rash of CB thefts from vehicles prompted the stakeout effort. Metro officers have said that between four and six units are ripped off on the average every 24 hours in Berrien county.

said no arrest was made pending signing of a complaint.

Larry Rindfield, 208 West Mars, Berrien Springs, told Benton Harbor police his car was broken into and a tape player, four tapes and a pair of sunglasses stolen Thursday. The car was parked in Benton Harbor and the items were valued at $144, police said.

Benton Harbor police arrested a Benton Harbor man early today on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and violation of the controlled substance act.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Roy Michael Thompson, 24, of 780 Pipestone street.

Police said a car was stopped shortly after midnight at the intersection of East Main street and Martin Luther King drive. A small amount of suspected marijuana was confiscated, police reported.

A multi-truck crash last year has resulted in a Berrien Circuit court suit in which a St. Joseph township couple seeks $110,000 damages for injuries the husband allegedly sustained.

The plaintiffs, Ralph and Iva McIntyre, of 3127 Wissing lane, Elmhurst, were injured Jan. 7 when the semi-truck he was driving crashed into a number of trucks which had overturned on I-94 in Antwerp township, Van Buren county.

Named defendant in the suit was Adrian Banas, of Utah. The suit claims a truck driven by Banas, which was towing three other trucks, went out of control, causing all the vehicles to overturn and block the westbound lanes of the freeway.

Unhurt, but ticketed for defective brakes, was James Kenneth Baker, 28, of 179 Bellview street, Benton Harbor.

Police reported the Baker vehicle attempted to stop when an unidentified vehicle pulled from a private drive. This car slid sideways into another car that slid into the oncoming lane and struck two other cars, police reported.

Trailer Turns Up In Oklahoma

A 40-foot flatbed trailer, reported missing or stolen last weekend from the Stevensville sub-office of Sante Fe Pipeline Construction company has been located, company officials told Berrien sheriff's officers Thursday.

Sub-office Manager Paul Gristler said the trailer was found in a company repair shop in Woodward, Okla.

The 10,490-pound trailer was last in this area in December and hadn't been seen since, Gristler told officers. The pipeline company has been installing natural gas pipelines in Berrien county.

17-Year-Old Awaiting Term Of Up To Life

By ALAN AREND

ALLEGAN — Vincent Dwight Peckens, 17, a Martin high school junior, pleaded guilty Wednesday in Circuit court here to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. However, it was stated on the record that Peckens would be allowed to withdraw his guilty plea and stand trial if it appears Allegan Circuit Judge George Corsiglia is going to sentence Peckens to a minimum of more than 5½ years, according to Fred "Rick" Hunter, Allegan county prosecutor.

Maximum penalty for assault with intent to commit murder is life imprisonment. Peckens was placed on pre-sentence investigation.

Hunter said another charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct against Peckens was dropped by his office, following Peckens' guilty plea Wednesday. Hunter said the charge could be reinstituted if it appears Peckens is going to withdraw his plea.

Peckens was accused of the June 12, 1975, rape and knifing of a 20-year-old Otsego woman at a gravel pit north of Otsego in southeast Allegan county.

He was 16 at the time of the alleged offense.

Peckens, while free on bond, was a starting member of the Martin high school basketball team this past winter.

Peckens was taken into custody after state police from the Wayland post were summoned to a gravel pit north of Otsego by area residents who reported hearing screams.

There, officers found a 20-year-old Otsego woman. She told police her attacker had raped and stabbed her and stomped on her chest and stomach until she stopped screaming. She said her attacker tried to bury her in a shallow grave he dug by hand and she was pushed into it repeatedly whenever she tried to escape.

Peckens was taken into custody near the gravel pit where the alleged attack occurred. His car was stuck in mud when police arrived. The woman said she managed to crawl from the makeshift grave and stop a motorist after her attacker left her.

Police said the woman suffered 11 stab wounds, including three deep slashes across her throat. She was released from Pipp Community hospital, Plainwell, a week after the alleged attack.

The 6-foot-3 youth was taken into circuit court for trial after losing a legal battle to have the case handled in juvenile court.

His attorney is Harry Beach of Plainwell.

Peckens remains free on $10,000 bond.

Berrien Springs Board 'Pink Slips' 19 Teachers

By LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board in a special meeting yesterday voted to notify 19 of the district's 28 probationary teachers they may not be rehired next fall because of a possible lack of finances.

Supt. Jon Schuster said pink slips would be sent out today to the 19 teachers.

Explaining the need to send out the pink slips, Schuster said, "There is no guarantee today that the Berrien Springs school board will be able to pay those people in September. It's just that simple."

The pink slipping action was taken now because state law requires that probationary teachers be given 60 days notice if they are not going to be rehired, Schuster said.

He said the school board waited as long as it could before making the decision in the hope that the state legislature would approve its school funding package for 1976-77. Gov. William Milliken has proposed an overall 3.7 per cent school aid increase for 1976-77, but the legislature has yet to act on it.

Berrien Springs is at least the fifth school district in southwestern Michigan to pink slip some of its teachers because of reduced finances.

King Carl Gustaf Has Common Touch Swedish Monarch To Visit U.S.

By ROLF ULVESTAM
Associated Press Writer
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — King Carl XVI Gustaf, who starts a 27-day tour of the United States next week, once said that if he hadn't been born of royal blood he would have liked "an earthy job perhaps as a farmer."

The 29-year-old Swedish monarch, who has said he likes to think of himself as an ordinary young man, followed that pattern early in March when he became engaged to a West German commoner, Silvia Sommerlath, a former secretary he met at the 1972 Olympics.

Of their first meeting, the king said: "It said click — and it has been clicking ever since."

He made the remark at a news conference here following the engagement announcement and now "It said click, said the king," is a saying that is sweeping Sweden.

Carl Gustaf arrives in the United States on next Friday, April 2, to make a tour partly as a public relations man for his country — "To sell Sweden," he has said.

His schedule calls for visits to New York City, Williamsburg, Va., Washington, Philadelphia, the Midwest (to meet Swedish Americans), Detroit (to visit automobile factories), Houston (to see the space center) the West Coast and Colorado (to do some skiing).

Carl Gustaf is well aware of his role as a royal public-relations man for Sweden and also realizes that there will always be a certain distance between him and the people. But at the same time he insists on having a private life of his own.

"I do my duty — during my free time, however, I too am but a person just like everyone else," he said in an interview recently.

Carl Gustaf's choice of a commoner as Sweden's future queen came as no surprise to the Swedes. As a young crown prince he had declared that he wanted freedom to marry the girl he loved.

"She may be a secretary of a government official. That does not matter. The important thing is love," he said.

When he finally presented his fiancée to the Swedes he proved he had lived up to his philosophy. Silvia, two years older than the king, is the daughter of a West German businessman and used to work as a secretary before becoming an Olympic hostess.

Asked what Silvia had that all his other girls had not, he said simply, "She is Silvia you can see for yourselves."

Carl Gustaf is of the Bernadotte dynasty which has reigned in Sweden since 1810 when Napoleon Bonaparte's marshal, Jean-Baptiste Bernadotte, was offered the Swedish throne and became Carl XIV Johan.

Carl Gustaf was born April 30, 1946, in the royal palace of Haga outside Stockholm as the only son of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and Sibylla, German-born princess of the Sachsen Coburg. Carl Gustaf never got a chance to get to know his father. When he was a year old, his father was killed in an air crash in Copenhagen, Denmark. Among the victims was American singer Grace Moore.

"Maybe I would have developed differently if he had been alive when I grew up," Carl Gustaf once said.

His mother, who died in November, 1971, and his grandfather supervised his education.

He was systematically trained for his future role as head of state. After secondary school he did his military service as a commoner with the marines.

The chiefs of the military units where he served praised him for his willingness to work.

During his training he also sailed around the world.

"On the high seas I had to scrub the decks and wash the dishes but when we came to anchor at a harbor, I had to represent Sweden and the royal family — a social seesaw which sometimes made me more seasick than the most severe storms," the king recalled in an interview.

Carl Gustaf ascended to the throne in September 1973 when his grandfather Gustaf VI Adolf died at the age of 92.

It was not easy to succeed the old king who was immensely popular with the people. But despite his youth and relatively short period of training Carl Gustaf was soon fully accepted.

About 100 letters a day and hand-made gifts began pouring into his royal palace.

The king and Silvia will need a male heir to make sure Sweden will remain a monarchy. Sweden has no female succession rights to the throne like neighboring Denmark or Britain.

The government may have to enter a formal proposal for female succession rights should Carl Gustaf and Silvia fail to solve the problem "the natural way," as most Swedes hope they will.

The king is scheduled to spend four days in Williamsburg and Washington, with the Swedish ambassador, Count Wachtmeister as his host, and is expected to meet with President Ford on April 6.

CAB Offers Tart Pool For Sale, Considers Tart Order Changes

The Cherry Administrative board Tuesday voted to put the entire cherry reserve pool on the market April 15, start machinery to amend the renewed order and hire Del Rasmussen as permanent general manager of the board.

The 19 million pounds of frozen cherries in the pool will be offered for sale for three and one-cent a pound more than was asked when part of the pool was sold in November, Rasmussen said.

The price set for Grade A cherries is 29 cents a pound; Grade B tarts will cost 28 cents a pound. In November nearly 6 million pounds of cherries were sold for prices of 25.5 cents a pound for Grade A and 24.5 cents a pound for Grade B, he said.

The higher prices for the April 15-25 sale show that the market is better — "the order is doing its job, giving maximum returns to growers," he said.

During a referendum early this month two-thirds of the growers in the eight states covered by the order and half the processors voted to renew the order for five years, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Before the referendum there was talk — in Southwestern Michigan at least — about amending the order to make it fairer for both growers and processors. But the CAB decided to concentrate on renewing the order first, then discuss amendments.

Rasmussen reported that at the Tuesday board meeting the amendment committee was "activated." It will consist of board members and outsiders, Rasmussen said, and will begin meeting in the near future.

Rasmussen became acting general manager of the board after Frank Owen, former manager, resigned in December. Now that the order has been renewed Rasmussen has been named permanent general manager, he reports.

'Michigan's Farm Industry Is Becoming More And More Like A Public Utility'

DANIEL KRUGER
'Farming Not Profitable'

Great Lakes Vegetable Growers' convention in Lansing.

"It seems to me that farmers and their friends have got to educate the legislators and the state regulatory agencies that farming is not like General Motors," he said.

"Management problems at GM are entirely different from those of farmers, and farmers have to contend with uncontrollable factors of weather and natural disasters. They had more than their share last year," he added.

"We have to get over the concept that it is possible to operate a farm like a public utility and expect to feed the people of Michigan, the people of our country and people throughout the world," he said.

In 1984 there were 93,000 farms in Michigan but by 1970 there were fewer than 78,000. In that time cultivated acres declined about two million to 12 million. "Total receipts for farming have increased — they were $1.7 billion in 1974 — but net farm income continues to decline. It is not profitable being a farmer," Kruger concluded.

He said that a major force influencing agriculture is technology, some of which has evolved because of labor problems.

The increasing choice by farmers of machine over man is partly due to labor regulations and increasing labor costs. "It is true these pieces of equipment are expensive, but the mechanical picker does not take the farmer to court," said Kruger.

One To A Customer Is Enough, Roger!

With all modesty, we have to agree that the Herald Palladium is a pretty fine newspaper — even, on this day, let's put it, "marvelous" upon occasion.

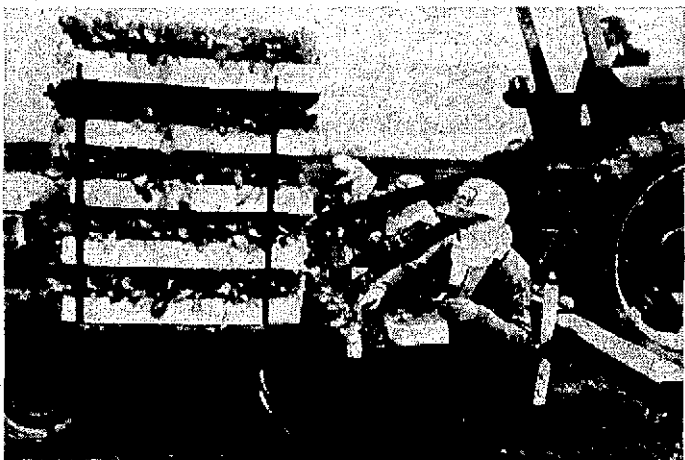

However, there's no good reason we know of for having more than one subscription in any household where the members are as good folks. In extremely rare cases where the question of who gets to read the Herald Palladium first creates ill-will and domestic friction a second copy might help keep the peace.

This doesn't seem to be the case with the lady above and her fond husband. Roger is about to go back, apologize and cancel one of those subscriptions.

Farmers To Meet With Congressmen

One hundred Michigan farmers will spend four days in Washington, D.C., next week during Michigan Farm Bureau's Washington Legislative Seminar.

The full-time farmers and growers will discuss agricultural issues with legislators, attend committee hearings and visit the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Issues likely to be discussed include harassment by federal agencies and migrant-advocacy groups, the importance of foreign markets to farmers, estate taxes, the Food Stamp program and consumer protection.

Participants from Southwestern Michigan county Farm Bureaus will include Don C. Weekwerth, Watervliet; Austin E. Bowman, Martin; Terry Rockwell, Three Rivers and Mrs. Waldo Dick, Lawrence.

Woodlot

Workshop Set

A farm woodlot workshop sponsored by the Van Buren extension will be held from 1:30 to 4 the afternoon of March 31 at the Van Buren Farm Bureau building west of Paw Paw.

Michigan State University Foresters Mel Koelling and Randall Heilmann will discuss management and marketing of hardwood and pine plantations. Joe Fields, Department of Natural Resources district forester, will describe marketing conditions and DNR field services.

Jim Vogt, county director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation district, will explain the districts' tree planting and cost-share timber stand improvement programs.

Temporarily women of the neighborhood were spoken into the hunch-jule of the cider barrel.

Newly purchased pigs were first backed into their pens.

To this day, several such practices continue. Winter witches with divining rods of forked twigs still hunt wells and buried treasure. Every February 2, the ritual of observing the ground hog is carried out to determine if he sees his shadow, which means six more weeks of winter weather.

Rats Cause 1/4 Of Farm Fires

One rat can cause as much as $100 worth of damage per year on a farm, according to John Herick, extension veterinarian at Iowa State university.

Besides the spread of many human and livestock diseases, rats contaminate feed and cause damage to farm buildings by gnawing. By chewing electrical wiring, rats are also blamed for about 25 per cent of all farm fires, he said.

The estimated 100 million rats now on U.S. farms are a problem, he said. Their dropplings in animal feed spread the diseases leptospirosis and salmonellosis among livestock, and evidence shows rats are responsible for the spread of pseudotuberculosis in swine.

Herick thinks the problem warrants a well-planned rat control program. He advises farmers to undertake a baiting program. Use of anticoagulant baits will cause rats to slowly bleed to death internally. To be effective, anticoagulants should be available for an extended time.

Rats must eat the poison for a period of several days before death occurs. Because they reproduce quickly the bait program should be continued. Bait stations located in barns, garages, corn cribs, hog barns and machine sheds should be supplemented by perimeter baiting on the outskirts of buildings.

Remember to keep anticoagulant baits away from domestic animals. Dead rats should be immediately removed from areas frequented by other animals.

Best Vinegar Made By Saying Names Of Sour-Tempered Ladies

While early Mid-Atlantic farmers were known for progressive farming practices, such as manuring and crop rotation, tradition and superstition largely guided agricultural methods for several centuries up to the middle of the 18th century.

Ben Franklin tried to distribute information, on new agricultural practices, but farmers told him:

"We want no information on husbandry; we know all about it. Give us labour, we want not your books of information."

Here is a sampling of the old beliefs.

At midnight on Christmas Eve, all cattle in barns were given the power of speech for a brief period, but no man dared to be present to witness the event.

When a farmer sold a good cow, he kept a bunch of her hair so that good luck wouldn't leave the farm with the cow. Rain could be prevented at harvest time by saying the Lord's Prayer backward.

Lunar farming was quite prevalent and the moon controlled just about everything a farmer did.

Apples were gathered on days of the full moon. Grain was sown in the waxing of the moon; wheat planted in its waning would certainly develop smut. Pole beans must be planted on the "Up" sign or they would refuse to climb the poles.

Crops with edible parts below ground, like potatoes, were planted in the dark of the moon and crops with edible parts above ground, such as corn, were planted in the light of the moon.

If hogs were slaughtered in the waxing of the moon, the pork would swell in the barrel. Cattle slaughtered during full moon would have juicier meat. Calves weaned during full moon would develop into heavy milkers.

If a house or barn was shingled when the horns of the moon pointed upward, the shingle butts would soon turn upward.

If a cock crowed at 10 p.m. it would rain before morning. Seed corn was passed through a bottomless earthen crock to protect the crop from crabs and cut worms.

And then there was the best way to make good vinegar. During its preparation, the names of the three most sour-

'Farming Not Profitable'

"Michigan's farm industry is becoming more and more like a public utility which is poorly regulated by state agencies," according to a Michigan State university professor scheduled to speak in Watervliet Monday night.

Dr. Daniel H. Kruger, labor and industrial relations specialist, will address the Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan (WSAM) Monday at 8 p.m. in the St. Joseph Catholic church, Watervliet.

Kruger talked about farming recently when he addressed the Great Lakes Vegetable Growers' convention in Lansing.

By John Roche

What was significant about last week's Illinois Democratic primary was the insignificance of the beauty contest. The media hailed the outcome as a massive triumph for Jimmy Carter, which is comparable to my announcing I am the toughest guy in town because I can beat up all the kids in the nursery school.

It may have provided some negative utility: Hopefully we have heard the last of the puffy populist Fred Harris, and Sarge Shriver may now take my earlier advice, and run for county commissioner in Maryland. George Wallace hung in there with 28 percent of the vote, but — as we shall shortly see — wasted his money.

The real arithmetic fully documents my feeling about the Richard Daley machine. I have seen the past and it works. His Honor, the Mayor of Chicago, has two objectives. On the national level he wanted a solid bloc of delegates pledged to "Mr. Noncommitted," and persuaded Senator Adlai Stevenson to be his favorite son. Stevenson, in one of the most intelligent statements I have seen in years, made it clear some time ago that he wasn't running for anything.

But when they go around to counting the serious votes — those for delegates — non-candidate Stevenson mopped up with 87. Carter, who won the beauty stakes with 48 percent, got 60. Shriver (18 percent) and Harris (8 percent) did not net a single delegate. Wallace, despite his serious input to the Illinois economy, got three — as many as our leading non-candidate, Hubert Humphrey.

On the home front, Daley disposed of Governor Dan Walker in almost a nuclear strike. Not only did Walker lose the Democratic nomination for a second term in the State House to one of the Mayor's proteges, but the Governor's attempt to field a rival set of favorite son delegates in competition with Stevenson was a gas: He got one delegate.

Thus in realistic terms Daley will arrive in New York in July full of inner joy. The pundits thought he had disposed of him in 1968, when his police allegedly launched an unprovoked "riot" against the young, barefoot innocents demanding "peace."

Undaunted by attacks by every leading Democrat except, he it noted, Ted Kennedy, Daley went on to get his slate chosen for the 1972 Democratic convention, but was frustrated when the body instead voted to seat a crew of self-elected McGovernites. Again Daley went back to Chicago, did his thing, and bided his time.

So this July a talented old Irish pol, with a number of aching scars, is arriving with a suitcase full of delegates. Revenge, as the old saying goes, is a dish best eaten cold — one wonders at whose expense Daley will savor its flavor.

What was significant about last week's Illinois Democratic primary was the insignificance of the beauty contest. The media hailed the outcome as a massive triumph for Jimmy Carter, which is comparable to my announcing I am the toughest guy in town because I can beat up all the kids in the nursery school.

It may have provided some negative utility: Hopefully we have heard the last of the puffy "populist" Fred Harris, and Sarge Shriver may now take my earlier advice and run for county commissioner in Maryland. George Wallace hung in there with 28 percent of the vote, but — as we shall shortly see — wasted his money.

The real arithmetic fully documents my feeling about the Richard Daley machine: I have seen the past and it works. His Honor, the Mayor of Chicago, has two objectives. On the national level he wanted a solid bloc of delegates pledged to "Mr. Noncommitted," and persuaded Senator Adlai Stevenson to be his favorite son. Stevenson, in one of the most intelligent statements I have seen in years, made it clear some time ago that he wasn't running for anything.

But when they go around to counting the serious votes — those for delegates — non-candidate Stevenson mopped up with 87. Carter, who won the beauty stakes with 48 percent, got 60. Shriver (16 percent) and Harris (8 percent) did not net a single delegate. Wallace, despite his serious input to the Illinois economy, got three — as many as our leading non-candidate, Hubert Humphrey.

On the home front, Daley disposed of Governor Dan Walker in almost a nuclear strike. Not only did Walker lose the Democratic nomination for a second term in the State House to one of the Mayor's proteges, but the Governor's attempt to field a rival set of favorite son delegates in competition with Stevenson was a gas: He got one delegate.

Thus in realistic terms Daley will arrive in New York in July full of inner joy. The pundits thought they had disposed of him in 1968, when his police allegedly launched an unprovoked "riot" against the young, barefoot innocents demanding "peace."

Undaunted by attacks by every leading Democrat except, be it noted, Ted Kennedy, Daley went on to get his slate chosen for the 1972 Democratic convention, but was frustrated when the body instead voted to seat a crew of self-elected McGovernites. Again Daley went back to Chicago, did his thing, and bided his time.

So this July a talented old Irish pol, with a number of aching scars, is arriving with a suitcase full of delegates. Revenge, as the old saying goes, is a dish best eaten cold — one wonders at whose expense Daley will savor its flavor.

State Drops Plan To Build Migrant Service Center!

BULLETIN
LANSING — State Senator Charles Zollar said this morning he has been advised a proposal to build a migrant service center in southwestern Michigan has been dropped.

He said the state Office of Management and Budget (OMB) told him it will not request a grant of some $300,000 from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. A pre-applicant had been sent to HUD earlier.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN: Fire yesterday morning destroyed barn on Peter Harry farm, 71st street, Casco township, in Allegan county, north of South Haven. Firemen said owner was in process of tearing down barn when small bonfire nearby spread to building. Firemen protected nearby buildings but let barn burn to ground. (Dion LeMieux photo)

Trooper Strike 'Possible'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A strike by state police troopers is "quite possible" if nothing is done to upgrade pay, according to the secretary of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, Carl Coats said Thursday. "The possibility (of a strike) is there if state government doesn't do something to make us competitive." The troopers are pushing for legislative approval of a resolution to give the state police collective bargaining power. Approval of the resolution, opposed by Gov. William Milliken, would put the question of collective bargaining on the November ballot.

Milliken Blames Companies

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After farmers' protests and criticism from a top Democratic lawmaker his handling of the mass livestock poisoning in Michigan, Gov. William Milliken on Thursday put the blame squarely on the companies involved. Milliken told farmers that Farm Bureau Services, the Michigan Chemical Corp., their insurers and attorneys have spent the past 30 months "doing all they can to present the arguments most favorable to their own interests. While these private parties have debated legal points, of course, the farmers have continued to suffer devastating economic losses," he told a farmers meeting at Michigan State University. "The responsibility for these delays, and for the continuing plight of the farmers, rests with the private parties. They brought this problem about and the liability rests with them."

Limited Drilling Recommended

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state panel Thursday recommended limited drilling in the Pigeon River Country State Forest but refused to endorse state payments to oil companies if drilling is banned completely. The Michigan Environmental Review Board recommended the state allow oil and gas drilling only in the southern third of the forest. Such drilling has been recommended by the state Department of Natural Resources. The committee also recommended that the DNR's environmental impact statement on the drilling be termed "inadequate" on grounds it did not address pros and cons clearly. The vote came after the 17-member committee deleted a proposal recommending that if the state totally bans drilling in the wilderness area, it should buy back leases sold there.

Reimbursement Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will reimburse private colleges at higher rates for degrees granted to Michigan students under a bill Gov. William Milliken signed into law Thursday. The new law requires that in order to qualify, the student must either have graduated from a Michigan high school or lived in the state for 18 months before enrolling in the college. Under the bill: — The former maximum payment of $200 for an associate degree becomes a minimum. The former maximum payment of $400 for a bachelor's or master's degree becomes a minimum. A minimum reimbursement for a degree of doctor of dental surgery or dental medicine is set at $5,000. A minimum reimbursement of $1200 is set for a law degree, or bachelor's or master's degree in nursing, medical technology, medical records administration, dietetics or physician's assistant.

Watts, a St. Petersburg real estate agent, said the family will receive $15 for insurance on the parcel, which was neither registered nor certified.

"This was an absolutely traumatic shock for my mother, who is 83. I don't think she will ever recover from it," said Watts.

"Disclosure of the lost urn comes amid rising concern over damage to parcels sent through the mail."

"A congressman who has studied the Postal Service's new billion-dollar system for handling parcels said Thursday that it constitutes 'a management blunder of the first magnitude.'"

Chairman Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., of the House postal facilities subcommittee told postal officials that the system "will cost the American public millions of dollars while lowering the quality of mail service."

Postal officials disagreed, saying the agency will solve its problem of parcel damage caused by the new sorting machines.

"The magnitude of the damage problem is not large percentage-wise, and certainly it is a temporary problem which can be corrected, but we recognize that the results to date are unacceptable," said Senior Asst. Postmaster Gen. E.V. Dorsey.

Zollar said the OMB told him it was no longer supporting the proposal, after getting additional information from public hearings and because of wide opposition in southwestern Michigan and at the state level. Among organizations and agencies that voiced opposition were the Women for Survival of Agriculture, the Berrien board of commissioners, the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission, several farm organizations, and all area legislators.

Molesting Complaint Is Probed

A four-year-old Eau Claire girl was treated and released yesterday at Berrien General hospital after apparently being molested by an older boy, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Deputies indicated hospital reports showed no evidence of direct sexual contact, but said the incident which occurred about 7:45 p.m. near the girl's home, is still under investigation.

The girl's mother told officers the girl and her seven-year-old brother were outside playing when an unknown boy called to the girl, and the brother returned to the house. Officers said the girl told them her pants had been pulled down, and the mother said the girl was found near the home. No description of the alleged assailant was obtained, deputies said.

Hartford Traffic Is Topic

HARTFORD — How proposed traffic changes in the city here will affect safety of school children is to be discussed at a meeting set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 31, according to Mrs. Peggy Walls.

She said the meeting is to be held in the Elm room of the First Savings Association, 18 North Center, and is open to the public.

Mrs. Walls is contending that traffic change proposals including increasing some speed limits on city streets and removal of some stop signs, would be detrimental to the safety of school children.

PREPARING BAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration, which was sued this month to force an end to use of potentially dangerous chloroform in toothpastes, mouthwashes and nonprescription cold remedies, says it is preparing such a ban to take effect after 90 days.

Benton Bathroom Fire Snuffed

Benton township firemen said a fire in the bathroom of a home Thursday is believed to have been caused by a water heater igniting flammable materials stored near it. Damage to the John Jackson home, 389 Felton street, was confined to a part of the floor, wall and ceiling in the bathroom. Damage in the 3:35 p.m. blaze was estimated at about $750, firemen reported.

Doctors' Request 'Preposterous'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An association of insurance agents Thursday said a request from doctors for disclosure of the profits and losses of companies with medical malpractice coverage is "preposterous."

"There's nothing known to me about the operation of insurance companies that isn't already on file and has been for half a century," said Jack Butterick, manager of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Michigan. "If they want a goldfish bowl I don't see how we could make it any more open and brighter than it's been for years," Butterick said. The association represents about 1,000 insurance agencies in Michigan, about a third of whom offer malpractice coverage. The Physicians Crisis Committee on Wednesday asked state Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones for stricter regulation of malpractice insurers. A petition filed with Jones demands full disclosure of income, expense, profits and losses experienced by the insurance industry.

Former St. Joe Man Wounds Wife, Kills Self

CHEYBOGAN — Funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Herbert Malcolm Troost, 55, who died Tuesday night from a shotgun wound to the head in his home near this northern Michigan community.

His wife, Charlotte, 54, daughter of a former pastor of the Methodist Peace Temple in Benton Harbor, was in Lockwood-MacDonald hospital in Petoskey, with wounds to the hands and chest from a shotgun. She was reported in satisfactory condition.

Mr. Troost, who formerly operated the Troost Brothers furniture store in Niles until it closed in 1966, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Troost, of St. Joseph, owners of Troost Brothers furniture store.

State police at the Cheyboogan post said a county medical examiner ruled Mr. Troost's death a suicide. Troopers reported Mr. Troost and his wife, Charlotte, 54, had been having marital problems, and when Mrs. Troost went to the family home near Mullet Lake, south of Cheyboogan, Troost shot his wife and then killed himself with a 20-gauge shotgun.

Police reported Mrs. Troost raised her hand in an attempt to ward off the blast, and shotgun pellets passed through her hand and lodged in her chest. She was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Lockwood-MacDonald hospital in Petoskey. Her parents were the Rev. and Mrs. P.H. Mordick.

Mr. Troost's survivors include his parents; two daughters, one son; and a sister, Mrs. Theodore Besterbelt, of St. Joseph.

Mr. Troost had been in the furniture business about 20 years before moving from Niles to Mullet Lake to accept a position with Charming Paper Co.

Carl Coats said Thursday that "the possibility (of a strike) is there if state government doesn't do something to make us competitive." The troopers are pushing for legislative approval of a resolution to give the state police collective bargaining power. Approval of the resolution, opposed by Gov. William Milliken, would put the question of collective bargaining on the November ballot.

Milliken Blames Companies

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After farmers' protests and criticism from a top Democratic lawmaker his handling of the mass livestock poisoning in Michigan, Gov. William Milliken on Thursday put the blame squarely on the companies involved. Milliken told farmers that Farm Bureau Services, the Michigan Chemical Corp., their insurers and attorneys have spent the past 30 months "doing all they can to present the arguments most favorable to their own interests. While these private parties have debated legal points, of course, the farmers have continued to suffer devastating economic losses," he told a farmers meeting at Michigan State University. "The responsibility for these delays, and for the continuing plight of the farmers, rests with the private parties. They brought this problem about and the liability rests with them."

Limited Drilling Recommended

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state panel Thursday recommended limited drilling in the Pigeon River Country State Forest but refused to endorse state payments to oil companies if drilling is banned completely. The Michigan Environmental Review Board recommended the state allow oil and gas drilling only in the southern third of the forest. Such drilling has been recommended by the state Department of Natural Resources. The committee also recommended that the DNR's environmental impact statement on the drilling be termed "inadequate" on grounds it did not address pros and cons clearly. The vote came after the 17-member committee deleted a proposal recommending that if the state totally bans drilling in the wilderness area, it should buy back leases sold there.

Reimbursement Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will reimburse private colleges at higher rates for degrees granted to Michigan students under a bill Gov. William Milliken signed into law Thursday. The new law requires that in order to qualify, the student must either have graduated from a Michigan high school or lived in the state for 18 months before enrolling in the college. Under the bill: — The former maximum payment of $200 for an associate degree becomes a minimum. The former maximum payment of $400 for a bachelor's or master's degree becomes a minimum. A minimum reimbursement for a degree of doctor of dental surgery or dental medicine is set at $5,000. A minimum reimbursement of $1200 is set for a law degree, or bachelor's or master's degree in nursing, medical technology, medical records administration, dietetics or physician's assistant.

no avail.

Watts, a St. Petersburg real estate agent, said the family will receive $15 for insurance on the parcel, which was neither registered nor certified.

"This was an absolutely traumatic shock for my mother, who is 83. I don't think she will ever recover from it," said Watts.

Disclosure of the lost urn comes amid rising concern over damage to parcels sent through the mail.

A congressman who has studied the Postal Service's new billion-dollar system for handling parcels said Thursday that it constitutes "a management blunder of the first magnitude."

Chairman Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., of the House postal facilities subcommittee told postal officials that the system "will cost the American public millions of dollars while lowering the quality of mail service." Postal officials disagreed, saying the agency will solve its problem of parcel damage caused by the new sorting machines.

"The magnitude of the damage problem is not large percentage-wise, and certainly it is a temporary problem which can be corrected, but we recognize that the results to date are unacceptable," said Senior Asst. Postmaster Gen. E.V. Dorsey.

Molesting Complaint Is Probed

A four-year-old Eau Claire girl was treated and released yesterday at Berrien General hospital after apparently being molested by an older boy, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Deputies indicated hospital reports showed no evidence of direct sexual contact, but said the incident which occurred about 7:45 p.m. near the girl's home, is still under investigation.

The girl's mother told officers the girl and her seven-year-old brother were outside playing when an unknown boy called to the girl, and the brother returned to the house. Officers said the girl told them her pants had been pulled down, and the mother said the girl was found near the home. No description of the alleged assailant was obtained, deputies said.

Bangor Firemen On 2 Runs

BANGOR — Bangor firemen were twice called to the Minlin Vidakovic home near here early this morning to put out fires.

They were first called to the Columbia township home on CR-681 about 4:42 a.m. when a fuel oil stove set ablaze a trailer attached to the home.

Firemen said they were called back to the home about 8 a.m. when the fire rekindled, causing heavy smoke damage to the house itself.

There were no estimates of damages or reported injuries.

Benton Bathroom Fire Snuffed

Benton township firemen said a fire in the bathroom of a home Thursday is believed to have been caused by a water heater igniting flammable materials stored near it. Damage to the John Jackson home, 399 Felton street, was confined to a part of the floor, wall and ceiling in the bathroom. Damage in the 3:35 p.m. blaze was estimated at about $750, firemen reported.

Doctors' Request 'Preposterous'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An association of insurance agents Thursday said a request from doctors for disclosure of the profits and losses of companies with medical malpractice coverage is "preposterous." "There's nothing known to me about the operation of insurance companies that isn't already on file and has been for half a century," said Jack Butterick, manager of the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Michigan. "If they want a goldfish bowl I don't see how we could make it any more open and brighter than it's been for years," Butterick said. The association represents about 1,000 insurance agencies in Michigan, about a third of whom offer malpractice coverage. The Physicians Crisis Committee on Wednesday asked state Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones for stricter regulation of malpractice insurers. A petition filed with Jones demands full disclosure of income, expense, profits and losses experienced by the insurance industry.

Hartford Traffic Is Topic

HARTFORD — How proposed traffic changes in the city here will affect safety of school children is to be discussed at a meeting set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 31, according to Mrs. Peggy Walls.

She said the meeting is to be held in the Elm room of the First Savings Association, 18 North Center, and is open to the public.

Mrs. Walls is contending that traffic change proposals including increasing some speed limits on city streets and removal of some stop signs, would be detrimental to the safety of school children.

Former St. Joe Man Wounds Wife, Kills Self

CHEYBOGAN — Funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Herbert Malcolm Troost, 55, who died Tuesday night from a shotgun wound to the head in his home near this northern Michigan community.

His wife, Charlotte, 54, daughter of a former pastor of the Methodist Peace Temple in Benton Harbor, was in Lockwood-MacDonald hospital in Petoskey, with wounds to the hands and chest from a shotgun. She was reported in satisfactory condition.

Mr. Troost, who formerly operated the Troost Brothers furniture store in Niles until it closed in 1966, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Troost, of St. Joseph, owners of Troost Brothers furniture store.

State police at the CheyboGAN post said a county medical examiner ruled Mr. Troost's death a suicide. Troopers reported Mr. Troost and his wife, Charlotte, 54, had been having marital problems, and when Mrs. Troost went to the family home near Mullet Lake, south of CheyboGAN, Troost shot his wife and then killed himself with a 20-gauge shotgun.

Police reported Mrs. Troost raised her hand in an attempt to ward off the blast, and shotgun pellets passed through her hand and lodged in her chest. She was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Lockwood-MacDonald hospital in Petoskey. Her parents were the Rev. and Mrs. P.H. Murdock.

Mr. Troost's survivors include his parents; two daughters, one son; and a sister, Mrs. Theodore Besterbelt, of St. Joseph.

Mr. Troost had been in the furniture business about 20 years before moving from Niles to Mullet lake to accept a position with Charmin Paper Co.

County Picks Theme For Bicentennial

Nominations Invited For First Lady Contest

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
HARBERT — "Fabulous Fruits of Freedom" was announced yesterday as the theme of the Berrien county Bicentennial Pageant to be held in Berrien Springs in July. Nine-year-old Danny Blankenship of Eau Claire was named the winner of a county-wide contest among school children to select the theme.

Making the announcement and unveiling other plans for the pageant were officials of Berrien County Bicentennial Pageant, Inc., a non-profit corporation formed by the county Bicentennial commission. Pageant headquarters are located in Harbert on Red Arrow highway.

The pageant, which will portray the history and heritage of the county, as it relates to the nation's 200th birthday, will be staged at the Berrien county youth fairgrounds in Berrien Springs July 21-24, according to Paul McAdams, president and general chairman of the celebration.

Young Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blankenship, M-140, Eau Claire, was named the winner from among more than 200 entries. Mrs. Donald Weckler of Benton Harbor, chairman of the pageant's student activities committee, said.

Named second runner-up was Anette Ertman, 9, who resides with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Houseworth, route 1, Eau Claire. Her entry was "Fruit Basket of Freedom." Both she and Blankenship are third grade students at Lybrook elementary school in the Eau Claire district.

Two Eau Claire middle school students, Chris Worick and Linda Cowan, tied for third place. Worick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Worick, Left road, Sodus, penned the theme, "Pride in the Past, Faith in the Future." Miss Cowan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan, Box 75 H, Eau Claire, entered the theme, "Stars, Stripes and People."

In other developments, McAdams said that both a pageant queen and a Berrien county Bicentennial "First Lady" will be named for the celebration.

The queen will be Miss Blossomtime, if she is a Berrien county resident, or a member of her court if the queen is from a community outside Berrien county, McAdams said.

The "First Lady" will be selected on the basis of her contributions to her community. Nomination forms for the first lady are available from Bicentennial representatives in the various communities in the county, at the pageant headquarters in Harbert or the Bicentennial commission office on Riverview drive in Benton Harbor.

A five-member committee will name the first lady from nomination forms that must be submitted by April 30. Pageant ticket sales information will be released at a later date, McAdams said.

McAdams said that the Rogers company of Fostoria, Ohio, has been contracted to produce and direct the pageant. Berrien county residents will be actors in the presentation.

Funds for staging the pageant will come from the sale of commemorative items, the sale of a commemorative book to be released later and from contributions from various county industries, businesses, clubs and individuals, McAdams said.

Oronoko Man Beats Township In Court

lane, wanted to rent out two apartments in his basement, but the township contended he couldn't, claiming it was a violation of the zoning ordinance where Hass lives.

The township charged him with a violation of the zoning ordinance in district court, so Hass took his case to Berrien Circuit court, and was given permission to rent two apartments in his basement.

Visiting Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes, of Lansing, Wednesday ruled Hass can rent the two apartments as long as only one person lives in each and provided the apartments conform to the township's building code. Hughes also ordered that when the apartments comply with the code, the charge against Hass in district court is to be dismissed.

The zoning where Hass lives is essentially for two-family residences, such as condominiums or duplexes. The township maintained that since Hass had an apartment in a structure behind his house, plus his own residence, the basement apartments violated the ordinance.

Hughes held the ordinance is valid, but noted "that the use by plaintiff (Hass) of his basement for two rental units was, and presently is, under the circumstances reasonable. So long as (Hass) confines himself to renting each unit to not more than one person... such use is not in conflict with the primary and permitted uses of (the) neighborhood."

Opposing counsel during the two-day trial were St. Joseph Atty. Harry Creager, representing Hass, and township Atty. Jerry G. Johnson, of Berrien Springs.

Woman Guilty In ADC Fraud

A Benton township woman pleaded guilty to illegally receiving $789 in ADC benefits yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Placed on presentence investigation and released on personal recognizance bond was Laverne Davis, 19, of 1972 East Empire. After she pleaded guilty to welfare fraud under $300, a felony charge involving over $300 was dismissed.

The prosecutor's welfare fraud unit stated that she received ADC benefits for a child when the child was not under her care. The fraud occurred from Nov. 1, 1974, to Jan. 31, 1975.

Water Reported Leaking Into Hickory Sewer Line

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The Hickory creek sewer interceptor is in trouble again.

An estimated 150 feet of the sewer line has collapsed and is taking, on water from the swamp and Hickory creek, according to Robert H. DeVries, chairman of the Lake Michigan Water and Sewage Treatment authority, owner of the interceptor.

DeVries said the trouble spot is in St. Joseph township, just north of the Niles road bridge over Hickory creek.

He said the collapse is not causing pollution. "In fact swamp and stream water is being carried to the sewage plant for treatment."

DeVries explained that water is seeping into the 54-inch interceptor pipe at the joints and depositing sand. Raw sewage is not escaping.

Repairs or replacement of the collapsed pipe will be the liability of St. Joseph and Lincoln townships, DeVries said. The seven-mile interceptor from Stevensville to St. Joseph has been in service since May, 1974, and the contractor's warranty was for a year.

The interceptor is maintained by the City of St. Joseph.

DeVries said the collapse was detected because of increasing volumes of water being metered — from 3 million gallons weekly in November to 7.277 million weekly in March.

The interceptor has been the subject of controversy and physical troubles since the project started. It cost $2.67 million compared to an original estimate of $1.5 million.

Contractor Yerington &

Harris walked off the job for a while because of the higher costs encountered in the difficult terrain. Later, repairs were needed on a damaged 600-foot section along Cleveland avenue.

He succeeds Robert M. Kopper who is retiring after a utility career with I&M of more than 46 years.

Stark, who joined I&M in Fort Wayne in 1949 following his graduation from Purdue university, was elected a vice president in 1974 and has been a member of the board since 1969. He is a former Fort Wayne division manager of the utility.

Kopper began his I&M career in South Bend and was supervisor of rates and tariffs when he transferred to Fort Wayne in 1950. He has been executive vice president since 1968 and a member of the I&M board since 1965. He was elected a director of I&M's parent firm, American Electric Power Co., in 1974.

PCB Limits Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Thursday signed into law a bill sharply limiting the manufacture, sale and use of polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, starting in April 1977. Milliken said the new law makes Michigan "a leader in the nation in the search for a solution to this problem." The bill prohibits the manufacture, sale or use of products containing 25 per cent or more of the class of toxic chemicals by July 1; 1,000 parts per million by next January; and 100 parts per million by Jan. 1, 1978. The bill applies to all uses of the chemical group except for closed systems like capacitors and transformers.

HARBERT — "Fabulous Fruits of Freedom" was announced yesterday as the theme of the Berrien county Bicentennial Pageant to be held in Berrien Springs in July. Nine-year-old Danny Blankenship of Eau Claire was named the winner of a county-wide contest among school children to select the theme.

Making the announcement and unveiling other plans for the pageant were officials of Berrien County Bicentennial Pageant, Inc., a non-profit corporation formed by the county Bicentennial commission. Pageant headquarters are located in Harbert on Red Arrow highway.

The pageant, which will portray the history and heritage of the county, as it relates to the nation's 200th birthday, will be staged at the Berrien county youth fairgrounds in Berrien Springs July 21-24, according to Paul McAdams, president and general chairman of the celebration.

Young Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blankenship, M-140, Eau Claire, was named the winner from among more than 200 entries. Mrs. Donald Weckler of Benton Harbor, chairman of the pageant's student activities committee, said.

Named second runner-up was Annette Ertman, 9, who resides with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Houseworth, route 1, Eau Claire. Her entry was "Fruit Basket of Freedom." Both she and Blankenship are third grade students at Lybrook elementary school in the Eau Claire district.

Two Eau Claire middle school students, Chris Worick and Linda Cowan, tied for third place. Worick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Worick, Lett road, Sodus, penned the theme, "Pride in the Past, Faith in the Future." Miss Cowan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan, Box 75 H, Eau Claire, entered the theme, "Stars, Stripes and People."

In other developments, McAdams said that both a pageant queen and a Berrien county Bicentennial "First Lady" will be named for the celebration.

The queen will be Miss Blossomtime, if she is a Berrien county resident, or a member of her court if the queen is from a community outside Berrien county, McAdams said.

The "First Lady" will be selected on the basis of her contributions to her community. Nomination forms for the first lady are available from Bicentennial representatives in the various communities in the county, at the pageant headquarters in Harbert or the Bicentennial commission office on Riverview drive in Benton Harbor.

A five-member committee will name the first lady from nomination forms that must be submitted by April 30. Pageant ticket sales information will be released at a later date, McAdams said.

McAdams said that the Rogers company of Fostoria, Ohio, has been contracted to produce and direct the pageant. Berrien county residents will be actors in the presentation.

Funds for staging the pageant will come from the sale of commemorative items, the sale of a commemorative book to be released later and from contributions from various county industries, businesses, clubs and individuals, McAdams said.

Water Reported Leaking Into Hickory Sewer Line

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The Hickory creek sewer interceptor is in trouble again.

An estimated 150 feet of the sewer line has collapsed and is taking on water from the swamp and Hickory creek, according to Robert H. DeVries, chairman of the Lake Michigan Water and Sewage Treatment authority, owner of the interceptor.

DeVries said the trouble spot is in St. Joseph township, just north of the Niles road bridge over Hickory creek.

He said the collapse is not causing pollution. "In fact swamp and stream water is being carried to the sewage plant for treatment."

DeVries explained that water

is seeping into the 54-inch interceptor pipe at the joints and depositing sand. Raw sewage is not escaping.

Repairs or replacement of the collapsed pipe will be the liability of St. Joseph and Lincoln townships, DeVries said. The seven-mile interceptor from Stevensville to St. Joseph has been in service since May, 1974, and the contractor's warranty was for a year.

The interceptor is maintained by the City of St. Joseph.

DeVries said the collapse was detected because of increasing volumes of water being metered — from 3 million gallons weekly in November to 7.277 million weekly in March.

The interceptor has been the subject of controversy and physical troubles since the project started. It cost $2.67 million compared to an original estimate of $1.5 million.

Contractor Yerington &

Stark Is I&M's New Top Boss

Jack F. Stark was elected executive vice president and chief operating officer of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., effective May 1, at a meeting Thursday of the I&M board of directors in New York City.

He succeeds Robert M. Kopper who is retiring after a utility career with I&M of more than 46 years.

Stark, who joined I&M in Fort Wayne in 1949 following his graduation from Purdue university, was elected a vice president in 1974 and has been a member of the board since 1969. He is a former Fort Wayne division manager of the utility.

Kopper began his I&M career in South Bend and was supervisor of rates and tariffs when he transferred to Fort Wayne in 1950. He has been executive vice president since 1968 and a member of the I&M board since 1965. He was elected a director of I&M's parent firm, American Electric Power Co., in 1974.

PCB Limits Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Thursday signed into law a bill sharply limiting the manufacture, sale and use of polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, starting in April 1977. Milliken said the new law makes Michigan "a leader in the nation in the search for a solution to this problem." The bill prohibits the manufacture, sale or use of products containing 25 per cent or more of the class of toxic chemicals by July 1; 1,000 parts per million by next January; and 100 parts per million by Jan. 1, 1978. The bill applies to all uses of the chemical group except for closed systems like capacitors and transformers.

State Supremacy

It will all be on the line at 8:30 Saturday night at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor when unbeaten Buchanan battles Negaunee for the Class C basketball championship.

But the game is not just a battle between the Bucks and the Miners. It's a class clash between the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula.

Upper Peninsula basketball followers have been very tight-lipped when it comes to revealing information about the Miners. Buck coach Bill Wilson can attest to that.

"Those U.P. teams are really sticking together," he noted. "I've almost been unable to get any additional information from the other schools."

Negaunee, ranked number one most of the first half of the season, brings a fine 25-1 mark into the game while Buchanan, which finished in the No. 1 slot, is perfect in 27 games.

The similarities between the two teams are astounding. Negaunee will be seeking its first state championship since winning the Class B title in 1957. Buchanan, on the other hand, will be after its first crown ever. The Bucks did make it to the 1953 Class B finals before falling to River Rouge 51-48.

Each team finished with a perfect league season.

Negaunee (12-0) winning the Mid-Peninsula conference and Buchanan (14-0) the Blossomland.

Both squads will be represented by probable All-Staters. Chuck Vercoe, a 6-3 senior, heads up the Miners, while 6-6 Ken Garrett paces Buchanan.

Both Negaunee and Buchanan boast four starters in double figures. The Miners are paced by Dean Ellis (18.0), Chuck Vercoe (14.5), John Vercoe (14.0) and Phil Gleason (10.0). Garrett heads the Bucks with a 21.8 scoring mark and a 16.0 rebounding average. Joining Garrett in double digits are Mike Busby (13.9), Walt Vanderbush (12.4) and Gerald Busby (11.2).

If there is one factor favoring Negaunee it would have to be the schedule. The Miners topped three Top 20 teams, Norway, Roscommon and Unionville-Sebewaing, to get into the title game. Negaunee, on the other hand, will be the first ranked team Buchanan has had to face.

With all of these similarities, the game virtually rates as a toss-up. Wilson believes it may all come down to rebounding and the respective benches.

"I think right now our kids are boxing out and sealing out as well on the boards as they have all year," he said. "That could go a long way toward stopping Negaunee's second and third shots. If we continue to box out well, they're going to have to shoot a tremendous percentage to beat us."

Buchanan's bench has been one of its keys all season with Gary Jones, Willie Brown and Greg Frazier.

"I feel very good about putting those three into a ballgame," Wilson said. "They not only hold things together, but more often than not contribute."

Negaunee coach Dave Hallgren, former Galien mentor, is hopeful the Miners defense will make up for other problems.

"Our defense has been our strong suit all season, especially during the tournament," Hallgren said. "Hopefully, we can play good defense against them. The man-to-man defense has been our bread-and-butter, so we're obviously going to use it against them. If it fails, we're going to be in trouble."

Hallgren also believes his team's shooting percentage could hold the key to the Miner hopes.

"We're going to have to have good shot selection," he noted. "We have to shoot well. If we have a poor night shooting it will give Buchanan plenty of opportunities to board and go."

Buchanan will be gunning for the best record in southwestern Michigan history in the game. A victory would give the Bucks a perfect 28-0 mark, two victories better than Covert's unbeaten 1966 state champs.

For area followers who were not lucky enough to get a ticket,

Channel 22 (South Bend) will carry a tape-replay of the game at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Indiana NCAA Tourney Favorite

UCLA Mystique Gone

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The UCLA basketball team is here but the UCLA mystique is gone.

A powerhouse team that played the favorite's role for as long as anyone can remember, UCLA is in the unfamiliar position of underdog as the NCAA prepared to hold its championship semifinals Saturday at the Spectrum.

Indiana, which routed UCLA 84-64 in the first game of the season last November, is a six-to-eight-point choice to beat the Bruins again after Rutgers plays Michigan in the opener.

"Opening games are often not a reliable yardstick for comparison," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, uncertain that his Big Ten brutes should be rated that much better than the defending national champions. "UCLA has improved greatly over the season."

Indiana has also improved.

The Hoosiers, in fact, appear to be peaking with a 30-0 record that includes victories over St. John's, Alabama and Marquette in the regional playoffs.

"The availability of Scott May makes us a stronger club at this point than a year ago," said Knight, referring to the fact that the All-American forward was virtually useless in last year's playoffs with an injured left arm.

The Bruins, winners of 10 national championships under John Wooden, started this season under new coach Gene Bartow in a typical fashion. After that embarrassing loss to Indiana on national television, they continued to fumble and feel their way while adjusting to the traditional program.

"Our players were still learning about a new coach," says Bartow. "We ran a lot of people in and out."

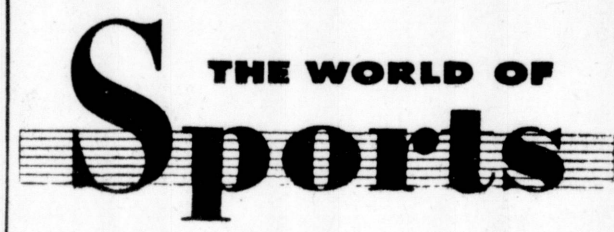

The once-mighty Bruins were even beaten on their home court — something that hadn't happened for 98 games at Pauley Pavilion. Bartow got hate mail, obscene phone calls and there was talk of a mutiny. He admits it wasn't easy following a man of Wooden's stature.

"I wouldn't recommend it for young coaches, a steady diet of following John Wooden," says Bartow. "But seriously, I'm happy to be in the final four. I think things have gone as well as expected when you follow a hot selection."

Before the Hoosiers and Bruins go after each other in front of some 15,000 fans at the Spectrum and millions more on national television, Rutgers and Michigan will match strikingly similar fast-breaking styles.

Rutgers, with a 31-0 record, and Indiana are the only major college unbeaten teams in the country. UCLA has a 26-4 record going into Saturday's semifinals and Michigan is 24-6.

Ali To Meet Second 'Lion'

Facing Japanese Wrestler In Rich Exhibition

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali will go "lion hunting" for the second time in three months when the boxing champion meets Antonio Inoki in Tokyo June 26. But Inoki will be a completely different breed of cat for the heavyweight champion.

Inoki is a wrestler known as "The Young Lion."

"I've always wanted to meet a rasser," said Ali who knocked out the Lion of Flanders — Belgian Jean-Pierre Cooman — last Feb. 20.

Ali will make two more title defenses before he meets Inoki in an exhibition being billed as the World Martial Arts Championship. "I've always wanted to show I'm scientific enough to beat a rasser," Ali said Thursday at a news conference called to formally announce the match.

Ali's bait to meet "The Young Lion" is a guarantee of $6.1 million, which will be the biggest purse of his career.

"That figure's legitimate," said promoter Bob Arum when questioned about the financial projections made for the boxer-wrestler confrontation — a confrontation which is not new but one that before has never had the benefit of closed-circuit television.

"We'll have more seats than for a heavyweight championship fight because we'll have wrestling promoters," said Arum who said the price for a close-circuit telecast ticket "will be basically $10."

The promoters — Arum's Top Rank, Inc., and Video Techniques, both of New York and Lincoln National Productions of California — estimate the event could gross $10 million and that Inoki could earn as much as $3.5 million by receiving $2 million from worldwide television revenue and the entire live gate from the event at the 15,000-seat Budokan Arena.

The Ali-Inoki fight will be the second part of a closed-circuit television doubleheader and will start at noon Saturday, June 26, in Tokyo as it can be seen in the United States at 10 p.m., EST, Friday.

The first half will pit wrestler Andre the Giant against a boxer at Shea Stadium in New York. Arum would like the boxer to be former heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry.

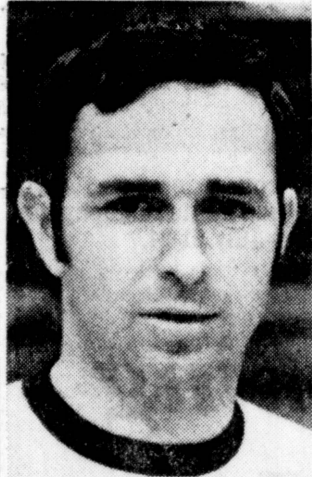

The rules for the fight are not definitely set but basically the bout will last 15 rounds and it can end on a decision — the winner of a round get five points — or if Ali knocks out Inoki, or if Inoki pins Ali. Also, Ali will wear gloves; Inoki will not.

"I want the right to punch when I'm down," said Ali. "If I'm on my back, I want to be able to jab up. If I'm on my knees, I want to punch down."

"When your fist connects with my chin," said Inoki through an interpreter, "take care your fist is not damaged."

Broncos' Miller New OSU Coach

ELDON MILLER

KALAMAZOO — After guiding Western Michigan University to its best basketball season ever, Eldon Miller has decided to resign and accept the head coaching job at Ohio State University, it was announced today.

At the same news conference, Dick Shilts, an assistant to Miller for the past six years, was elevated to the head coaching position.

Miller, a native of Gnadenhuetten, Ohio, turned Wittenberg University into a national small college power before he took over at Western Michigan in 1970.

The quiet, intense Miller slowly built the Broncos up to this year when they won their only undisputed Mid-American Conference basketball championship with a 15-1 record. Western ended the regular season with a 24-2 record.

The Broncos, ranked 10th nationally, then made their first NCAA tournament appearance and knocked off Virginia Tech, 77-67 in overtime. Ironically, Tech was coached by Don DeVoe, who was also in line for the Buckeye job.

Marquette then ended the dreams of Western Michigan when the Warriors downed the Broncos 62-57 in Baton Rouge, La.

For his efforts this season, Miller was honored as the MAC 'Coach Of The Year' by the league's press. One of his players, forward Jeff Tyson, was picked as the player of the year in the conference.

In his six-year stint at the Bronco helm, Miller compiled an 86-63 record.

Miller will have the awesome job of rebuilding a Buckeye program that finished with a 6-20 overall record, the worst mark ever by a Fred Taylor-coached team. Taylor, the 51-year old dean of Big Ten coaches, produced one national champion and seven league winners.

Western Michigan's Athletic Director, Dr. Joseph Hoy, had nothing but praise for Miller. "He is the most outstanding coach I have worked with in terms of organization, understanding administrative problems and for the contribution he has made to the entire athletic program.

"I wish him the utmost success at Ohio State," he added.

Regarding Shilts, Hoy commented that it was fortunate to have such a highly qualified person in Western's program at this time. "Dick has contributed greatly to our present level of success both from a coaching and recruiting standpoint," he said.

"He possesses all the qualities you look for in a young coach at the division one level, such as recruiting, sensitivity for players and their problems and having a great deal of sincerity."

RUSSELL STEELE

Benton Harbor's Russell Steele, the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference's leading scorer, and teammate Bennie Bowers were named to the all-LMAC cage team announced by the league coaches today.

Steele, a 6-4 senior, held a 22.3 average in nine conference games. The 6-4 Bowers was fifth in scoring with a 16.6 average.

The unanimous selections to the all-star team are Steele, 6-4 Mark Brammer of Traverse City (14.2 average), Muskegon Catholic's 6-2 Greg Cole (17.7), 6-2 Tony Pannell of Muskegon (19.0) and Grand Haven's 6-4 Mark Hoppers (12.6), the only junior on the team.

Other players on the squad include a pair of Muskegon Catholic cagers, 6-2 Randy Jenkins (16.2) and 5-9 Lou Bass (10.0); 6-0 Kirk Schaffer of Grand Haven (12.5); 6-3 Mike Patton of Mona Shores (15.6), and 6-3 John Hanson of Traverse City (12.1).

Brammer's selection to the first team marks the first time in LMCA history that a prep athlete has gained all-league honors in both both football and basketball his junior and senior years.

Owls' Move To G. Rapids Stalled

DETROIT (AP) — Al Savill Sr., owner of the Columbus Owls franchise in the International Hockey League, backed away from his earlier request to transfer his franchise to Grand Rapids.

Savill told a meeting of the IHL Board of Governors Thursday that he wants to firm up arrangements with Grand Rapids businessman Phil Simon and other officials connected with the proposed hockey operation.

Savill emphasized the withdrawal of his application for a move to Grand Rapids is only temporary. He indicated he will reapply before next season's schedule is worked out in September.

Savill mentioned scheduling problems and possible conflicts with two other IHL hockey towns nearby — Muskegon and Kalamazoo.

Savill is negotiating with Simon for use of a privately-owned ice hockey facility. Simon operated the now-defunct Grand Rapids Rockets International Hockey League team in the 1960s.

Savill said he wants to make sure he would not be encroaching on the territory of the Muskegon Mohawks, which are about 40 miles away from Grand Rapids, and the Kalamazoo Wings, which are about 50 miles away. Part of the problem could be worked out through scheduling.

Savill said his team has operated in the red for both years the Owls have played in Columbus. The Owls failed to draw 100,000 fans in 38 home appearances each season. The 100,000 figure is regarded as the breakeven point financially for an IHL team.

The Owls' failed to reach the playoffs this season, which adds to their immediate financial problems.

IHL Commissioner Bill Beagan said according to the league constitution, any transfer or movement of a franchise must be given full approval by the board of govern-

Toss Shutout LA Hurlers Sutton, Bryant Impressive

From Associated Press
Right-hander Don Sutton, gearing up for opening day, and left-hander Ron Bryant, hoping to win a spot on the roster, are both off to impressive starts for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The two made their spring training debuts Thursday afternoon by combining for a 7-0 shutout of the Philadelphia Phillies. Sutton, flashing mid-season form, fired six innings of two-hit ball, struck out three batters and walked none.

"I wanted to go as long as I could," said Sutton, who has already been named the club's opening-day pitcher for the fifth straight year. "I pitched five innings the other day in an intrasquad game and felt like I could go even farther."

"I felt the same today," Bryant, trying to hook on with the Dodgers as a free agent, worked the final three innings, gave up two hits and struck out four.

Bryant won 24 games for San Francisco in 1973, but when downhill after that. He injured his back in a swimming pool accident and managed only a 315 mark with the Giants in 1974. He was dealt to St. Louis last season, lost his only decision and then went into temporary retirement.

A good showing by Bryant would help the Dodgers ease the probable loss of Andy Messersmith, who has played out his option and is currently trying to sell his services to the highest bidder.

Dave Lopes and Ivan DeJesus provided the offense in Thursday's game. Lopes homered and doubled to drive in three runs.

and DeJesus also hit a home run.

Elsewhere, Kansas City's Al Fitzmorris surrendered just two infield hits over five innings as the Royals trimmed the Chicago White Sox 2-0; Lefty Pete Falcone struck out seven batters in three innings to help the St. Louis Cardinals edge the New York Mets 1-0.

A two-run homer by John Ellis broke a seventh-inning tie and led the Texas Rangers to a 10-8 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles; Pittsburgh's Al Oliver made a game-saving catch with the bases loaded and added a two-run double as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Detroit Tigers 4-2.

Jose Morales pinch-hit a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning to give the Montreal Expos a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros; Shortstop Eddie Brinkman's double error on Tom Paciorek's sacrifice bunt in the 10th inning permitted the winning run to score in the Atlanta Braves' 2-1 win over the New York Yankees. The Braves won again in a night game with Cincinnati, edging the Reds 7-6 in 11 innings on Clarence Gaston's run-scoring single.

New acquisitions Ed Herrmann and Bill Melton combined to drive in three runs and lead the California Angels past the Oakland A's 4-1; A three-run homer by Dwight Evans and a two-run shot by John Balaz powered the Boston Red Sox past the Minnesota Twins 7-2.

Three RBI by rookie Gene Reynolds, including a two-run double in the decisive fifth-inning rally, led the San Diego Padres past the Chicago Cubs 8-5, and outfielder Tommie Smith capped a five-run ninth-inning rally with a two-run single for Cleveland as the Indians slipped by the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7.

Cagers Seek Elusive Title Class A Finalists Have Rich Traditions

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Class A contenders in Saturday's prep finals are rich in basketball tradition, but both Saginaw and Detroit Catholic Central have been frustrated in recent years.

Saginaw last won a state crown in 1982. As fate would have it, Catholic Central last won it one year earlier — 1981.

Since that time, however, both schools have continued to pile up impressive records.

Coach Charles Coles guided Saginaw to the finals in 1973, the semi-finals in 1974 and the regional finals last season. But the big prize has eluded him each time.

His rival, Catholic Central Coach Bernie Holowicki, tells a similar tale of woe. In five years as coach of the Shamrocks, Holowicki's teams have compiled a 94-17 record.

Surprisingly, neither team was expected to make it to the state finals this year, of all years.

But Catholic Central (24-3) played Lansing Everett — the No. 1 team in the state — headup in the semis and handed Everett a sound eight-point beating to earn a shot at the top prize.

Saginaw (20-7), by the same token, slipped into the finals on the strength of a desperation 28-foot shot at the buzzer in the semis which enabled the Trojans to nip Pontiac Central by a point.

"This team is made up of a group of determined young men," Coles says. "They have come back strong after losing some real close games. We did this by playing together."

The Trojans rely heavily on rugged Paul Roby, a 6-foot-5, 190-pound senior who can take a lot of punishment under the boards — as well as dish it out. Ellis Williams and captain Mike Peterson, 6-5 and 6-1 respectively, also spark the Saginaw attack.

"We have good height and good speed," Coles says. "I look for a good game."

Holowicki figured this to be a rebuilding year when Catholic Central started the season. He had just one senior in his starting lineup, but that proved to be enough since the senior was Mike Prince, a 6-6, 198-pounder. "Mike is our key man," Holowicki says. "He always seems to get special attention from our opposition."

Prince is averaging 24 points a game. Dave Abel, a 6-7 junior, is averaging 12 rebounds a game and six blocked shots.

"We started with a young, inexperienced team," Holowicki says. "We've progressed and matured with each game. Naturally we're hoping we can keep it going for just one more game."

The Class A championship contest is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena. The game is a sellout.

Tech's MacInnes Is Quiet And Successful

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — John MacInnes is to college hockey what Bobby Knight is to basketball — and both have their teams poised to capture National Collegiate Athletic Association titles this weekend.

But that's where the similarity ends.

MacInnes, whose Michigan Tech club is in Denver to defend the NCAA title it won last year, is quiet and introspective. And — horror of horrors — he thinks it's all "only a bloody game."

Thursday night, the Huskies were given a scare by Ivy League champ Brown University, but Dave Johnson scored on a rebound shot with 2:13 gone in the second overtime period to lead Michigan Tech to a 7-6 victory.

Joelson picked up a rebound in front of the Brown net after a deflected 40-foot shot and slipped his shot under the right arm of goalie Kevin McCabe.

Minnesota is scheduled to meet Brown University in tonight's other semifinal game, with the winner meeting the Huskies in the finals.

The 50-year-old MacInnes has been in this hockey hotbed since 1956. In that time the Huskies have been NCAA champs three times, and runners-up twice and Western Collegiate Hockey Association champs seven times.

Along the way he has turned out such well-known pros as Tony Esposito and Lou Angotti and Olympians like Steve Jensen and Jim Ward, both of whom recently signed National Hockey League pacts.

"The hockey program at Michigan Tech has been such a success because it has been supported through the years by the students, the faculty, the townspeople and the administration," MacInnes says. "But it's kept in a proper perspective. Academics come first here."

To prove his point, MacInnes notes with pride that of 156 lettermen he has coached in his 20 years at Tech, 151 have graduated.

"That's the No. 1 thing as far as I'm concerned," he says. "If the boys don't have a two-point (C average) at mid-term, they're dropped right then and there. They know that we don't fool around with grades."

"I don't want anybody playing for me who can't maintain his grades in the classroom. I don't care who he is."

MacInnes says he feels schools that put too much emphasis on athletics, at the expense of studies, are cheating both themselves and the student-athletes.

"As far as I'm concerned, athletics are completely out of whack in this country, anyway," he says. "They should be a part of the institution — not the institution itself. And, so, we try to keep it that way."

MacInnes isn't afraid to take a jab at the so-called hockey establishment, either, decrying the violence that has crept into a game that once featured speed and finesse.

"I don't go for the rowdiness," he says. "Unfortunately, the systems many of these players come out of have taught them that you retaliate. We have to teach them discipline, to wait their turn, to turn the other cheek."

"If a young man has to fight, that's fine. But we teach discipline here. If a young man gets a misconduct penalty and is for a reason I consider to be selfish — swearing, things like that — then he will sit out the next game."

MacInnes says this tight discipline applies to the team's stars as well as reserves.

"Hopefully we don't treat our stars as stars," he says. "They're part of the team here. Your best players have to fit within the system if you're going to be successful."

"Hockey, unfortunately — throughout the American continent — is not a team sport. It's a star sport. And I completely disagree with that. That's what's so great about the college game. If we lose a Mike Zuke tomorrow, or any other player, we're going to be just as good."

MacInnes can prove his point, too. The Huskies lost three players — Warden, Jensen and Jensen's brother Paul — to the U.S. Olympic Team this season, yet still managed to sweep into the NCAA tournament.

"We've been lucky and we've had great players," he says philosophically.

Holowicki figured this to be a rebuilding year when Catholic Central started the season. He had just one senior in his starting lineup, but that proved to be enough since the senior was Mike Prince, a 6-6, 198-pounder. "Mike is our key man," Holowicki says. "He always seems to get special attention from our opposition."

Prince is averaging 24 points a game. Dave Abel, a 6-7 junior, is averaging 12 rebounds a game and six blocked shots.

"We started with a young, inexperienced team," Holowicki says. "We've progressed and matured with each game. Naturally we're hoping we can keep it going for just one more game."

Cherry Is Happy Coach After Bruins Down Hawks

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Bruins made Coach Don Cherry a happy man Thursday night and not just because the scoreboard showed them 4-2 winners over the Chicago Blackhawks.

"I thought we played very good," Cherry said. "We were in complete control of the game the whole time. I never thought it was in doubt. This is the kind of game I like. We weren't forechecking as good as we could, but we were doing a lot of backchecking. There were no 3-on-2's. That's what I like."

Cherry also likes the fact that the Bruins need just one more victory to clinch first place in the National Hockey League's Adams Division.

Elsewhere, the St. Louis Blues trounced the Pittsburgh Penguins 5-2 and the Philadelphia Flyers downed the New York Rangers 4-1.

In the World Hockey Association, it was Quebec Nordiques 7, Edmonton Oilers 5; Indianapolis Racers 4, Houston Aeros 3 in overtime and San Diego

Mariners 9, Cincinnati Stingers 1.

Jean Ratelle and Hank Nowak scored goals that bounced into the net off Chicago players in the second period, starting the Bruins to their 15th straight home triumph. Ratelle was trying to pass out from behind the goal line when the puck hit netminder Gilles Villeneuve in the back and bounced into the cage to tie the score 1-1. Moments later Nowak swung at a loose puck and lofted it off a Hawk defenseman and over the crouching Villeneuve's head to put the Bruins in front. Wayne Cashman and Terry O'Reilly made it 4-1 in the third period.

Chuck Leffley scored his 40th and 41st goals and Garry Unger his 37th for St. Louis as the Blues overcame a record-tying performance by the Penguins' Jean Pronovost, who scored his 51st goal of the season at the six-second mark. But Larry Patey quickly tied it and Red Berenson put the Blues in front for keeps in the second period.

Ex-Ranger Andre Dupont scored the tie-breaking goal in the second period and the Flyers set an NHL record with their 34th victory at home. They have won 18 in a row at the Spectrum, two shy of another record.

Bears Get Top Awards

Awards were given out in four varsity sports at the St. Joseph winter sports banquet held at the high school Wednesday.

The boys basketball team received a trophy from the Kalamazoo Gazette as the most valuable player on the girls basketball team and Laura Thompson was most improved.

The MVP award on the wrestling team went to Dave Bock while Andy Diener was most improved.

Fred Danaher was given the MVP award on the swim team while Jeff Korrit and Jeff VanWinkle were the most improved. Danaher and John Worthington made the Academic All-American team.

Ward Scores 38 In Delta Victory

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Delta State is not a one-woman team.

"We don't care who does our scoring, as long as it gets done," Cornelia Ward said after her 38 points led Delta State to a 97-44 victory over Baylor Thursday in the quarter-finals of the Women's College Basketball Championships.

Baylor's defense was geared to stop 6-foot-3 Lusia Harris, top scorer for the Lady Statesmen from Mississippi.

Miss Harris had 16 points, about half her average, even though she sat out the second half while recovering from a virus.

But the major damage came from the 72 per cent outside shooting of Miss Ward, whose name is pronounced "Woward" by Mississippians and her rhymes with her position — forward.

"I couldn't believe they stayed in that zone," said Miss Ward, who had 20 points in the first half and made 18 of 25 two-handed tries from the floor.

Miss Ward relaxed in the stands while Delta's foe in tonight's semifinals, Wayland Baptist of Texas, beat Mississippi College 75-59.

The other semifinal matches Inmaculata College of Philadelphia with William Penn, a Quaker school from Iowa with a towering front line of First Ladies.

Inmaculata beat Montclair State of New Jersey 103-83 in their quarter-final, and William Penn edged Cal State-Fullerton 64-61.

Toss Shutout LA Hurlers Sutton, Bryant Impressive

From Associated Press
Right-hander Don Sutton, gearing up for opening day, and left-hander Ron Bryant, hoping to win a spot on the roster, are both off to impressive starts for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The two made their spring training debuts Thursday afternoon by combining for a 7-0 shutout of the Philadelphia Phillies. Sutton, flashing mid-season form, fired six innings of two-hit ball, struck out three batters and walked none.

"I wanted to go as long as I could," said Sutton, who has already been named the club's opening-day pitcher for the fifth straight year. "I pitched five innings the other day in an intrasquad game and felt like I could go even farther."

"I felt the same today," Bryant, trying to hook on with the Dodgers as a free agent, worked the final three innings, gave up two hits and struck out four.

Bryant won 24 games for San Francisco in 1973, but when downhill after that. He injured his back in a swimming pool accident and managed only a 315 mark with the Giants in 1974. He was dealt to St. Louis last season, lost his only decision and then went into temporary retirement.

A good showing by Bryant would help the Dodgers ease the probable loss of Andy Messersmith, who has played out his option and is currently trying to sell his services to the highest bidder.

Dave Lopes and Ivan DeJesus provided the offense in Thursday's game. Lopes homered and doubled to drive in three runs and DeJesus also hit a home run.

Elsewhere, Kansas City's Al Fitzmorris surrendered just two infield hits over five innings as the Royals trimmed the Chicago White Sox 2-0. Lefty Pete Falcone struck out seven batters in three innings to help the St. Louis Cardinals edge the New York Mets 1-0.

A two-run homer by John Ellis broke a seventh-inning tie and led the Texas Rangers to a 10-8 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles; Pittsburgh's Al Oliver made a game-saving catch with the bases loaded and added a two-run double as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Detroit Tigers 4-2.

Jose Morales pinch-hit a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning to give the Montreal Expos a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros; Shortstop Eddie Brinkman's double error on Tom Paciorek's sacrifice bunt in the 10th inning permitted the winning run to score in the Atlanta Braves' 2-1 win over the New York Yankees. The Braves won again in a night game with Cincinnati, edging the Reds 7-6 in 11 innings on Clarence Gaston's run-scoring single.

New acquisitions Ed Herrmann and Bill Melton combined to drive in three runs and lead the California Angels past the Oakland A's 4-1. A three-run homer by Dwight Evans and a two-run shot by John Balaz powered the Boston Red Sox past the Minnesota Twins 7-2.

Three RBI by rookie Gene Reynolds, including a two-run double in the decisive fifth-inning rally, led the San Diego Padres past the Chicago Cubs 8-5, and outfielder Tommie Smith capped a five-run ninth-inning rally with a two-run single for Cleveland as the Indians shipped by the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7.

CONTRAST IN HAIR STYLES: Bob Moose, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, leans on fence as he talks with Detroit Tigers pitcher John Hiller at Tigers spring training camp Thursday in Lakeland, Fla. Cagers Seek Elusive Title Class A Finalists Have Rich Traditions

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Class A contenders in Saturday's prep finals are rich in basketball tradition, but both Saginaw and Detroit Catholic Central have been frustrated in recent years.

Saginaw last won a state crown in 1962. As fate would have it, Catholic Central last won it one year earlier — 1961.

Since that time, however, both schools have continued to pile up impressive records.

Coach Charles Coles guided Saginaw to the finals in 1973, the semi-finals in 1974 and the regional finals last season. But the big prize has eluded him each time.

His rival, Catholic Central Coach Bernie Holowicki, tells a similar tale of woe. In five years as coach of the Shamrocks, Holowicki's teams have compiled a 94-17 record.

Surprisingly, neither team was expected to make it to the state finals this year, of all years.

But Catholic Central (24-3) played Lansing Everett — the No. 1 team in the state — headup in the semis and handed Everett a sound eight-point beating to earn a shot at the top prize.

Saginaw (20-7), by the same token, slipped into the finals on the strength of a desperation 28-foot shot at the buzzer in the semis which enabled the Trojans to nip Pontiac Central by a point.

"This team is made up of a group of determined young men," Coles says. "They have come back strong after losing some real close games. We did this by playing together."

"We have good height and good speed," Coles says. "I look for a good game."

Holowicki figured this to be a rebuilding year when Catholic Central started the season. He had just one senior in his starting lineup, but that proved to be enough since the senior was Mike Prince, a 6-6, 198-pounder.

"Mike is our key man," Holowicki says. "He always seems to get special attention from our opposition."

Prince is averaging 24 points a game. Dave Abel, a 6-7 junior, is averaging 12 rebounds a game and six blocked shots.

BATON ROUGE, La. — Fred Schmertz, 87, director of the Milrose Games track meet at New York's Madison Square Garden, died in a Baton Rouge Hospital.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Delta State is not a one-woman team.

"We don't care who does our scoring, as long as it gets done," Cornelia Ward said after her 38 points led Delta State to a 97-44 victory over Baylor Thursday in the quarter-finals of the Women's College Basketball Championships.

Baylor's defense was geared to stop 6-foot-3 Lusia Harris, top scorer for the Lady Statesmen from Mississippi.

Miss Harris had 16 points, about half her average, even though she sat out the second half while recovering from a virus.

But the major damage came from the 72 per cent outside shooting of Miss Ward, whose name is pronounced "Woward" by Mississippians here and rhymes with her position — forward.

"I couldn't believe they stayed in that zone," said Miss Ward, who had 26 points in the first half and made 18 of 25 two-handed tries from the floor.

Miss Ward relaxed in the stands while Delta's foe in tonight's semifinals, Wayland Baptist of Texas, beat Mississippi College 75-59.

The other semifinal matches Immaculata College of Philadelphia with William Penn, a Quaker school from Iowa with a towering front line of First Ladies.

Immaculata beat Montclair State of New Jersey 103-83 in their quarter-final, and William Penn edged Cal State-Fullerton 64-61.

Williams And Hicks Miss 300 Games On Last Balls

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Bill Williams and Lowell Hicks both shared the same

LOWELL HICKS
Rolls 7th Series

aggravating fate this week. The pair both came up just short of "perfection" when they left pins on their last balls

BARB HANRAHAN
Bowls 6th Series

after starting their games with 11 consecutive strikes. Williams lost out in his bid for a 300 when he left the 3-10 on his final toss while Hicks couldn't hit the head pin and left five pins.

Hicks can rejoice with his first 700 series, a 700, while Williams could only produce a 683.

Williams, bowling last Friday night in the Moose league at Gersonde's, got off to a "terrible" start with two games around 130 but then the St. Joseph bowler exploded in his last game with 11 X's in a row before leaving the baby split.

"The pressure started building up gradually from the eighth frame on," states Williams, who has been rolling seven weeks in the league as a sub and carries a 168 average. "I started to think about a 300 in the eighth frame. I tell you in the last frame as I was about as nervous as you can get... I felt real weak."

"On that last ball I hardly knew where it went but I think it was almost head on. But as soon as I threw it I knew it wasn't going to be a strike."

Hicks, competing Wednesday night in the Whirlpool United league at Blossom Lanes, also felt a heavy dose of pressure when everyone stopped bowling to watch his shot at the 300.

"You just can't imagine the pressure... that's the first time I ever had a shot at a 300," voices Hicks, who was averaging 185. "I kept thinking what I had to do."

"I just threw it out the window. I hung it out too far and it didn't come up... the ball hit on the No. 3 pin."

Hicks, who had an opening game of 220 and finished with 194, put together a string of 14 straight strikes as he closed out his first game with three in a row. He also started his last game with two strikes.

Barb Herish, seeking her fourth consecutive 600 title, produced her fourth 600 of the year with a 624 while Barb Hanrahan posted a 617.

Herish, rolling in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock Mixed Doubles league at Gersonde's, hit games of 201-185-255 with the 255, which included 10 strikes, making the women's high games listings. Her total of four 600's is tops this season.

Hanrahan pitched games of 236-202-169 for her first 600 series in the Newcomer's Ladies league at Blossom Lanes.

Biggart, from Colonia, pitched games of 298-255-187 in collecting his first 700 series. He took a 177 average into the tourney. Stack, from Benton Harbor, ended with his 276 game, which included the first seven strikes. The 276 was 164 plus over his average. He finished with a 630 series.

Virgil and Maxine Shirley of Baroda currently lead the tourney, which runs to May 30, with their 1323 handicap total.

The Lake Michigan College men's bowling team is competing today and Saturday in the National Junior College tournament at Erie Community College at Buffalo, N.Y. The team, coached by Don Ashbar, consists of Brad Peterson, Tim Weber, Jim Morris, Tim Sammons and Glen Barnes. About 20 teams are taking part in the tourney.

Split conversions include the 6-7-10 by Jim Ulery, Jean Hahn, Henry Muenchow, Bill Dalton, Ginny DeFord, Darlene Webster, Doris Gast, Shirley Catey and Marilyn Kraklan; the 6-7 by Betty Zeitler, Thelma Marquardt, Sharon Bush, Ruth Keeney, Marion Hughes, J. Schulte, Jim Martin, Bobbie Douglas and Lynn Lawrence; the 4-7-10 by Jay Daugherty, Becky Schramm, Audrey Kelschall and Lu Lindensfeld; the 4-10 by Bev Burkett, Evelyn Fussenette and Judy Hoffman; the 7-8-9 by Connie Corant; the 6-7-8-10 by Becky Schramm; the 4-7-9-10 by Vince DiMaggio; the 4-6-7-10 by Bob Kunst, the 7-8 by Craig Roberts and the 6-7-10 and 5-7 twice by Carol Bickers.

Triplicate were earned by Lorraine Waaso, 108; Norm Dibble, 139; and junior bowler Gabe Krawicki, 131. All-spares games were turned in by junior kegger Mike Johnson, 182; Gloria Weir, 181; and Ron Drows, 179. Lefty Johnson won a century patch with his 256 game, 108 pins over his average.

Nothing But Bad News For Cavs

From Associated Press
For the Cleveland Cavaliers there was some bad news Thursday night... and some more bad news.

First, the Cavaliers suffered only their second home setback in 18 starts, bowing to the Buffalo Braves 109-94. Then they learned that it cost them a chance to move into first place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division because the Washington Bullets, one game in front, also lost, 108-105 to the Portland Trail Blazers.

Elsewhere, the Houston Rockets trimmed the Golden State Warriors 124-104 and the Phoenix Suns whipped the Atlanta Hawks 107-98.

Bob McAdoo and Randy Smith combined for 61 points and led a second-half surge that propelled Buffalo over Cleveland. McAdoo scored 36 points — 23 in the second half — and Smith and Jim McMillan each scored 25, with 17 of Smith's in the second half. Dick Snyder had 21 for Cleveland.

consecutive setback, their longest losing streak since November.

The Bullets, who had won 12 straight at home, came back from a 13-point third-quarter deficit and it was 101-100 Portland when Bill Walton, back in action, and Lionel Hollins converted free throws and Neal added his three-point play. Sidney Wicks paced Portland with 25 points and Phil Chenier led Washington with 24.

Mike Newlin and Calvin Murphy combined for 48 points as Houston broke the Warriors' 10-game home winning string. The backcourt stars' outside shooting helped the Rockets to a 37-24 lead early in the second period as Houston became the only team to defeat the Pacific Division champions twice this season in Oakland, where they have a 31-5 record. Newlin hit 12 of 19 shots for 26 points. The Warriors were paced by Jamaal Wilkes' 28.

Paul Westphal's 27 points paced Phoenix to its fifth consecutive triumph and put the Suns in a third-place Pacific Division deadlock with Los Angeles.

Tim Shaw Top Freestyler In NCAA Swimming Meet

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The overflow crowd at Brown University for the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships stood and cheered for nearly one minute in acknowledging Tim Shaw's thrilling victory in the 500-yard freestyle race.

No one cheered louder than John Naber Thursday night. Naber knew that anyone who could beat him has got to be the best, and he was admiring the swift and orderly way Shaw had carried out the transfer of power.

"It's a loss, that's what sport is all about," said Naber, a junior at the University of Southern California who had won the 500-yard NCAA freestyle in 1974 and 1975. "I had no clue what he would do. I am happy with my time. It is no disgrace to lose to Tim Shaw."

Shaw, a freshman at Long Beach State, is indeed the new collegiate freestyle king, and the only reason he hadn't claimed the throne before was because he was in high school.

Before he enrolled in college last September, Shaw set world records in the 400, 800 and 1,600-meter freestyles. He also won world titles last summer at the World Aquatic Championships in the 200, 400 and 1,500-meter races.

Meanwhile, Naber was winning and setting American records in the 400-yard freestyle at the NCAA's past two years, and the swimming world was anxiously awaiting the dramatic collision between these two aquatic giants.

Naber went out faster Thursday night, gaining a slight advantage over Shaw for the first half of the race. But the second 250 yards belonged to the 18-year-old swimming superstar.

"He jumped me at 250," said Naber. "I knew at 300 he had one. I couldn't have swum any better."

In fact, it was the best Naber has ever done at this distance. He had set the American record of 4:20.45 a year ago, but improved on that time Thursday night—only to find that Shaw was even faster.

"I think we both swam the way we usually do," said Shaw, recognized as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete in 1975 when he won the prestigious Sullivan Award. "I thought I had a chance, but winning didn't enter my mind."

Although Southern California didn't win the 500-yard freestyle, it did win two events and pick up enough other placings to build a wide lead in the team standings over runnerup Tennessee.

The Trojans have 141 points in their quest for a third straight NCAA crown. Tennessee has 74 points. Indiana has 67 and UCLA 40. Donald Craine of the University of Michigan is the Wolverine state's top finisher so far as both U-M and Michigan State have turned in less than spectacular performances.

Craine finished third in the one-meter diving competition, piling up 488.24 points. Winning the event was James Kennedy of Tennessee, at 514.29, followed by Scott Reich of SMU at 510.15. Southern Cal's only individual winner was Joe Bottom, who successfully defended his 50-meter freestyle title with a time of 20.18, two-hundredths of a second slower than the American record.

The Trojans also won the 400-yard medley relay event. The team was triggered by Naber's opening backstroke leg and fueled by Bob Shourin in the breaststroke, Mike Bottom in the butterfly and Joe Bottom in the freestyle to win in 3:20.02.

Lee Engstrand of Tennessee won the 200-yard individual medley, setting a meet record of 1:50.30; and Jim Kennedy, also of Tennessee, won the one-meter diving title.

Rosi Anxious To Go Home

HUNTER MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Rosi Mittermayer of West Germany, the 25-year-old darling of amateur skiing, was anxious to return home today, sit down with her parents and friends, and discuss what the future holds for the world's top female skier.

Since Miss Mittermayer, the World Cup over-all champion, began her North American tour early this month, she has been rumored to be retiring, rumored to be betrothed—usually to teammate Christian Neureuther—and in being under heavy police guard after receiving death threats.

"I'm going to rest at home (Hill in Wink), and talk to my friends and family," Miss Mittermayer said Thursday. Asked if she had decided to retire, she said: "I don't know yet."

"I may start training in the fall and race again next year," she added. She did, however, rule out any spring racing.

"I can't train as hard as the rest of the girls because I have too many commitments," she explained. "Those commitments would include her family and friends, perhaps a fiancé, and the multitude of companies which have offered her money for endorsements."

Miss Mittermayer has hinted many times that her 10-year amateur career may be nearing an end. She has admitted she would like to settle down with a husband, but adds: "I can still look around." As for pro skiing, she said probably not, complaining "the profit is not as good for women as for men."

The ver-smiling, but somewhat shy Miss Mittermayer ended this season Thursday with a second-place finish in the pro-style parallel slalom at the Nations' World Series of Skiing. The previous day, she had wiped out in the giant slalom, won by Lise-Marie Morerod, but she had won the slalom on Tuesday.

The Italians wound up the winners in the World Series of Skiing team competition, an anti-climax to the World Cup tour which ended last week end in Canada. Some of the skiers and coaches openly admitted they cared little about this meet.

"Cindy Nelson, Lutsen, Minn.: 'I was ready to finish this season back at Copper Mountain (three weeks ago).'"

"Timi Sailer, Austrian coach: 'I've been standing on snow for 10 months. I want to get away.'"

"Phil Mahre, White Pass, Wash.: 'I skied so bad, it was just a joy ride.'"

The Swiss wound up second in the team competition with 80

Racers Close

Regular Season

KALAMAZOO — The Benton Harbor Racers closed out their regular season schedule by beating Kalamazoo 5-1 Thursday at Wings Stadium.

The Racers finished in first place in the Wings Stadium Senior Hockey league standings, four points ahead of Century Blues.

Gordie Brotherton and Frank Grumbrich each scored two goals for the Racers while Bill Naylor and Bruce Bolin each netted one. Player-coach Gary Ruhl was the winning goalie for the Racers, who are now 24-6-5 for the year. The Racers, sponsored by Midwest Athletic Supply, open the league playoffs Sunday at 11:15 a.m. against Koo.

Murphy Forges Lead After Big Overhaul

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — "Two, three times a year I get in need of repair," said Bob Murphy. "Sometimes it's just minor adjustments. Sometimes it's a major overhaul."

And, facing probably the toughest course the touring pros play all season in the Harbour Town Golf Links, he figured he needed a major overhaul coming into the $215,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I called some friends and told 'em, 'I know I can't take this machine to the Heritage. That course will kill me,'" Murphy said.

So, from last week's Jacksonville Open, he hustled home to Delray Beach, Fla., got the overhaul needed on his game and responded with a brilliant, five-under-par 66 that provided him with the first-round lead Thursday.

and two, maybe three golf tournaments."

So last Monday Murphy sought the help of old friend Gene Martin, an amateur, and Laurie Hammer, a club pro and former tourist. He beat balls for five hours — "probably the longest I've practiced in one stretch in my life."

The three jointly discovered two things: Murphy had a problem with his grip and he had the ball out of position at address.

The time-up worked. The Murphy machine didn't make a bogey on the tight little layout that features the greens shored up by railroad ties; narrow fairways winding through the moss-hung cypress, oak and pine; massive bunkers up to 120 yards in length and seaside marsh.

He saved par from five feet on the last hole for the clear lead over Don January, the easy-going, 48-year-old veteran who was alone in second and four-under-par 67.

Williams And Hicks Miss 300 Games On Last Balls

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Bill Williams and Lowell Hicks both shared the same agonizing fate this week. The pair both came up just short of "perfection" when they left pins on their last balls after starting their games with 11 consecutive strikes.

Williams lost out in his bid for a 300 when he left the 3-10 on his final toss while Hicks couldn't hit the head pin and left five pins.

Williams' 298 lifts him into a deadlock for the top game this season in southwestern Michigan while Hicks' 295 is good for third place.

Hicks can rejoice with his first 700 series, a 709, while Williams could only produce a 603.

Williams, bowling last Friday night in the Moose league at Gersonde's, got off to a "terrible" start with two games around 150 but then the St. Joseph bowler exploded in his last game with 11 X's in a row before leaving the baby split.

"The pressure started building up gradually from the eighth frame on," states Williams, who has been rolling seven weeks in the league as a sub and carries a 166 average. "I started to think about a 300 in the eighth frame. I tell you in the last frame as I was about as nervous as you can get...I felt real weak."

"On that last ball I hardly knew where it went but I think it was almost head on. But as soon as I threw it I knew it wasn't going to be a strike."

Hicks, competing Wednesday night in the Whirlpool United league at Blossom Lanes, also felt a heavy dose of pressure when everyone stopped bowling to watch his shot at the 300.

"You just can't imagine the pressure...that's the first time I ever had a shot at a 300," voices Hicks, who was averaging 185. "I kept thinking what I had to do."

"I just threw it out the window. I hung it out too far and it didn't come up...the ball hit on the No. 3 pin."

Hicks, who had an opening game of 220 and finished with 194, put together a string of 14 straight strikes as he closed out his first game with three in a row. He also started his last game with two strikes.

Williams' wife, Sue, also is listed in the area rankings with her 826 series she shot earlier this season.

Barb Hersh, seeking her fourth consecutive 600 title, produced her fourth 600 of the year with a 624 while Barb Hanrahan posted a 607.

Hersh, rolling in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock Mixed Doubles league at Gersonde's, hit games of 201-188-255 with the 255, which included 10 strikes, making the women's high games listings. Her total of four 600's is tops this season.

Hanrahan pitched games of 236-202-169 for her first 600 series in the Newcomer's Ladies league at Blossom Lanes.

Jerry Biggart and Dan Stack both produced explosive efforts last Saturday in the mixed doubles tournament at Lakes Bowl. Biggart flipped a sanctioned 708 series while Stack smacked a 276 game.

Biggart, from Coloma, pitched games of 266-255-187 in collecting his first 700 series. He took a 177 average into the tourney. Stack, from Benton Harbor, ended with his 276 game, which included the first seven strikes. The 276 was 104 pins over his average. He finished with a 636 series.

Virgil and Maxine Shurley of Baroda currently lead the tourney, which runs to May 30, with their 1323 handicap total.

The Lake Michigan College men's bowling team is competing today and Saturday in the National Junior College tournament at Erie Community College at Buffalo, N.Y. The team, coached by Don Alsbro, consists of Brad Peterson, Tim Weber, Jim Morris, Tim Sammons and Glen Barnes. About 20 teams are taking part in the tourney.

Split conversions include the 6-7-10 by Jim Olroy, Jean Hahn, Henry Muenchow, Bill Dalton, Ginny DeFord, Darlene Webster, Doris Gast, Shirley Catey and Marilyn Kraklaw; the 6-7 by Betty Zeidler, Thelma Marquardt, Sharon Bush, Ruth Keeny, Marion Hughes, J. Schulte, Jim Martin, Bobbie Douglas and Lynn Lawrence; the 4-7-10 by Jay Daugherty, Becky Schramm, Audrey Keschull and Lu Lindendorf; the 4-10 by Bev Burkett, Evelyn Pussenette and Judy Hoffman; the 7-8-9 by Connie Caranci; the 6-7-8-10 by Becky Schramm; the 4-7-9-10 by Vince DiMaggio; the 4-6-7-10 by D. Daugherty; the 4-6-7-9 by Bob Kunst, the 7-9 by Craig Robards and the 6-7-10 and 5-7 twice by Carol Bickers.

Triplicate were earned by Lorraine Waaso, 168; Norm Dibble, 159; and junior bowler Gabe Krajecski, 131. All-spare games were turned in by junior kegger Mike Johnson, 182; Gloria Weir, 181; and Ron Drews, 179. LeRoy Johnson won a century patch with his 256 game, 108 pins over his average.

Murphy Forges Lead After Big Overhaul

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — "Two, three times a year I get in need of repair," said Bob Murphy. "Sometimes it's just minor adjustments. Sometimes it's a major overhaul."

And, facing probably the toughest course the touring pros play all season in the Harbour Town Golf Links, he figured he needed a major overhaul coming into the $215,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"I called some friends and told 'em, 'I know I can't take this machine to the Heritage. That course will kill me,'" Murphy said.

So, from last week's Jacksonville Open, he hustled home to Delray Beach, Fla., got the overhaul needed on his game and responded with a brilliant, five-under-par 66 that provided him with the first-round lead Thursday.

"I'd been hitting everything to the left," Murphy said. "It had cost me an absolute fortune and two, maybe three golf tournaments."

So last Monday Murphy sought the help of old friend Gene Martin, an amateur, and Laurie Hammer, a club pro and former tourist. He beat balls for five hours — "probably the longest I've practiced in one stretch in my life."

The three jointly discovered two things: Murphy had a problem with his grip and he had the ball out of position at address.

The tune-up worked. The Murphy machine didn't make a bogey on the tight little layout that features tiny greens shored up by railroad ties; narrow fairways winding through the moss-hung cypress, oak and pine; massive bunkers up to 120 yards in length and seaside marsh.

He saved par from five feet on the last hole for the clear lead over Don January, the easy-going, 46-year-old veteran who was alone in second and four-under-par 67.

Tim Shaw Top Freestyler In NCAA Swimming Meet

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The overflow crowd at Brown University for the NCAA Swimming and Diving championships stood and cheered for nearly one minute in acknowledging Tim Shaw's thrilling victory in the 500-yard freestyle race.

No one cheered louder than John Naber Thursday night. Naber knew that anyone who could beat him has got to be the best, and he was admiring the swift and orderly way Shaw had carried out the transfer of power.

"It's a loss, that's what sport is all about," said Naber, a junior at the University of Southern California who had won the 500-yard NCAA freestyle in 1974 and 1975. "I had no clue what he would do. I am happy with my time. It's no disgrace to lose to Tim Shaw."

Shaw, a freshman at Long Beach State, is indeed the new collegiate freestyle king, and the only reason he hadn't claimed the throne before was because he was in high school.

Before he enrolled in college last September, Shaw set world records in the 400, 800 and 1,500-meter freestyles. He also won world titles last summer at the World Aquatic Championships in the 200, 400 and

1,500-meter races. Meanwhile, Naber was winning and setting American records in the 500-yard freestyle at the NCAA's the past two years, and the swimming world was anxiously awaiting the dramatic collision between these two aquatic giants.

Naber went out faster Thursday night, gaining a slight advantage over Shaw for the first half of the race. But the second 250 yards belonged to the 18-year-old swimming superstar.

"He jumped me at 250," said Naber. "I knew at 300 he had me. I couldn't have swum any better."

In fact, it was the best Naber has ever done at this distance. He had set the American record of 4:20.45 a year ago, but improved on that time Thursday night—only to find that Shaw was even faster.

"I think we both swam the way we usually do," said Shaw, recognized as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete in 1975 when he won the prestigious Sullivan Award. "I thought I had a chance, but winning didn't enter my mind."

Although Southern California didn't win the 500-yard freestyle, it did win two events and pick up enough other placings to build a wide lead in the team standings over runnerup Tennessee.

The Trojans have 141 points in their quest for a third straight NCAA crown. Tennessee has 74 points, Indiana has 67 and UCLA 40. Donald Craine of the University of Michigan is the Wolverine state's top finisher so far as both U-M and Michigan State have turned in less than spectacular performances.

Craine finished third in the one-meter diving competition, piling up 489.24 points. Winning the event was James Kennedy of Tennessee, at 514.29, followed by Scott Reich of SMU at 510.15.

Southern Cal's only individual winner was Joe Bottom, who successfully defended his 50-meter freestyle title with a time of 20.08, two-hundredths of a second slower than the American record. The Trojans also won the 400-yard medley relay event. The team was triggered by Naber's opening backstroke leg and fueled by Bob Shearin in the breaststroke, Mike Bottom in the butterfly and Joe Bottom in the freestyle to win in 3:20.02.

Lee Engstrand of Tennessee won the 200-yard individual medley, setting a meet record of 1:50.30; and Jim Kennedy, also of Tennessee, won the one-meter diving title.

Rosi Anxious To Go Home

HUNTER MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (AP) — Rosi Mittermaier of West Germany, the 25-year-old darling of amateur skiing, was anxious to return home today, sit down with her parents and friends, and discuss what the future holds for the world's top female skier.

Since Miss Mittermaier, the World Cup over-all champion, began her North American tour early this month, she has been rumored to be retiring, rumored to be betrothed—usually to teammate Christian Neureuther—and to be under heavy police guard after receiving death threats.

"I'm going to rest at home (Reit im Winkl), and talk to my friends and family," Miss Mittermaier said Thursday. Asked if she had decided to retire, she said: "I don't know yet."

"I may start training in the fall and race again next year," she added. She did, however, rule out any spring racing.

"I can't train as hard as the rest of the girls because I have too many commitments," she explained. Those commitments would include her family and friends, perhaps a fiancé, and the multitude of companies which have offered her money for endorsements.

Miss Mittermaier has hinted many times that her 10-year amateur career may be nearing an end. She has admitted she would like to settle down with a husband, but adds: "I can still look around." As for pro skiing, she said probably not, complaining "the profit is not as good for women as for men."

The ver-smiling, but somewhat shy Miss Mittermaier ended this season Thursday with a second-place finish in the pro style parallel slalom at the Nations' World Series of Skiing. The previous day, she had wiped out in the giant slalom, won by Lise-Marie Morerod, but she had won the slalom on Tuesday.

The Italians wound up the winners in the World Series of Skiing team competition, an anti-climax to the World Cup tour which ended last week end in Canada. Some of the skiers and coaches openly admitted they cared little about this meet.

—Cindy Nelson, Lutsen, Minn.: "I was ready to finish this season back at Copper Mountain (three weeks ago)."

—Toni Sailer, Austrian coach: "I've been standing on snow for 10 months. I want to get away."

—Phil Mahre, White Pass, Wash.: "I skied so bad, it was just a joy ride."

points, four behind the Italians. West Germany was third with 68, followed by the United States with 58, Liechtenstein 34, Sweden 30, France 29, Austria 26 and Canada 7.

Although no U.S. skier advanced past the quarter-finals, five of six Americans entered made it to the round of eight. Miss Nelson ran into Miss Mittermaier in the quarter-finals and was beaten on both runs.

Only two other nations qualified as many skiers for the parallel as the United States—Switzerland with six and West Germany with seven.

Nothing But Bad News For Cavs

From Associated Press
For the Cleveland Cavaliers there was some bad news Thursday night ... and some more bad news.

First, the Cavaliers suffered only their second home setback in 16 starts, bowing to the Buffalo Braves 109-94. Then they learned that it cost them a chance to move into first place in the National Basketball Association's Central Division because the Washington Bullets, one game in front, also lost, 108-105 to the Portland Trail Blazers.

Elsewhere, the Houston Rockets trimmed the Golden State Warriors 123-104 and the Phoenix Suns whipped the Atlanta Hawks 107-98.

Bob McAdoo and Randy Smith combined for 61 points and led a second-half surge that propelled Buffalo over Cleveland. McAdoo scored 36 points — 23 in the second half — and Smith and Jim McMillian each scored 25, with 17 of Smith's in the second half. Dick Snyder had 21 for Cleveland.

Lloyd Neal's three-point play with 2:03 remaining erased a Washington rally and handed the Bullets their third consecutive setback, their longest losing streak since November.

The Bullets, who had won 12 straight at home, came back from a 13-point third-quarter deficit and it was 101-100 Portland when Bill Walton, back in action, and Lionel Hollins converted free throws and Neal added his three-point play. Sidney Wicks paced Portland with 25 points and Phil Chenier led Washington with 24.

Mike Newlin and Calvin Murphy combined for 48 points as Houston broke the Warriors' 10-game home winning string. The backcourt stars' outside shooting helped the Rockets to a 3724 lead early in the second period as Houston became the only team to defeat the Pacific Division champions twice this season in Oakland, where they have a 31-5 record. Newlin hit 12 of 19 shots for 26 points. The Warriors were paced by Jamaal Wilkes' 29.

Paul Westphal's 27 points paced Phoenix to its fifth consecutive triumph and put the Suns in a third-place Pacific Division deadlock with Los Angeles.

Flu Risks 'Too High' To Do Nothing

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The lessons of the history of influenza, in its cyclical sweeps around the globe, lend support to the decision to vaccinate the American population against the flu, a leading researcher says.

No one knows for certain if there will be a flu outbreak in the United States this coming winter, but the risks are too high to gamble on doing nothing, officials said as the medical drama unfolded.

"I think we really have no other choice," said the flu researcher, Dr. Edwin D. Kilbourne, of the decision to develop a vaccine. President Ford on Thursday asked Congress for $135 million to pay for the flu vaccination program.

The aim is to produce enough vaccine to inoculate the entire population of the country — 215 million people — to prevent a re-enactment of the devastating pandemic of 1819-19. A flu outbreak at Fort Dix, N.J., last month was blamed on a swine-type virus, similar to the one that caused the worldwide outbreak.

"We would all be comfortable with more evidence of a spread outside Fort Dix, but the lessons of history are that every time there is a virus shift of this magnitude we've had a pandemic," said Kilbourne, who is chairman of the department of microbiology at Mount Sinai School of Medicine. A pandemic is a worldwide epidemic.

Kilbourne, one of those who recommended that the vaccine be produced, discounted suggestions that Ford's decision was politically motivated. "The initiative came from the scientific community," he said, "from scientists outside of government."

"It's an urgent kind of situation," the researcher said in an interview. "The President made a bold and courageous decision. This is something that's never been tried before."

Kilbourne said, "We have definite evidence of human transmission of swine virus and that's never been seen before. We predict something's going to happen."

In the pandemic of a half-century ago, the death toll throughout the world reached 20 million, including 548,000 Americans. One virologist has said the mortality from a flu outbreak this winter could be 2 per cent — a conservative estimate — and that could mean 4 million deaths in this country.

Vaccination Timetable Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford asked Congress to approve his plan for a massive vaccination plan against swine flu virus before the April recess so that an adequate supply of vaccine can be available for full-scale immunization by the beginning of September.

Officials Thursday established the following timetable for production, testing and distribution of the vaccine: first small lots available in mid-April for clinical testing, test data ready by early June; then a decision on the concentration and dosage form of the vaccine, with coordinated distribution beginning later in June.

Kincheloe Loss $85 Million

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Closing Kincheloe Air Force Base could result in an annual loss of income of up to $85 million in three eastern Upper Peninsula counties, a special study committee says.

The figure computed by the Kincheloe Impact Special Study Committee at a Wednesday night meeting is more than double earlier estimates.

Milliken Opposes State Funding Of Primary Vote

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken said Thursday he still opposes state funding of the May 18 presidential primary despite a legal threat which might block the election.

Milliken said he would not rule out state financing of the election, at a cost of some $2 million. But he said he believed some sort of "cost-sharing" arrangement could be worked out with local government.

An Ingham County Circuit Court judge on Wednesday night issued a restraining order against the primary and said he might order it dropped altogether if the state does not fund the election.

Legislative leaders had mixed reactions to the ruling. There was no action on a bill now before the House to provide the money, and leaders said they will need Milliken's support if it is to pass.

Meanwhile, officials of Michigan's two major parties puzzled over how they could select delegates to the national convention if the primary is cancelled.

Judge Ray Hotchkiss issued the restraining order and said he would either issue a permanent injunction against it or lift the order within five days.

Hotchkiss indicated his ruling will depend largely on whether the legislature agrees to fund the primary.

The court suit which led to his restraining order was filed by local clerks who argued the state cannot order them to hold an election and then force them to pay for it.

The state paid for the 1972 presidential primary but did not approve the expenditure until months after the election was held. Discussion on a bill to fund the May election has been delayed until April 27.

"I do think it's important for the primary to continue," Milliken said. But he said he was not yet willing to support full state funding.

Milliken said Hotchkiss "has to have a good legal basis" for blocking the election. An assistant attorney general said Wednesday night any permanent injunction would be appealed immediately.

The governor is expected to meet soon with legislative leaders to discuss the problem.

"Without the governor's support that translates to his Republican colleagues in the legislature, it will be difficult to pass any of these measures," Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, said Thursday.

A similar funding bill has been introduced in the Senate.

Fitzgerald said it would be "unfair" to abolish the primary "so close to election day without any warning to the public or to the candidates involved."

No-Jail 'Pot' Bill Advances

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation reducing penalties for first offenders convicted of crimes involving small amounts of marijuana could get a final House vote Monday.

Meanwhile, legislation outlawing discrimination against the handicapped in employment and housing is in final vote position in the Senate.

The House Thursday moved the marijuana bill into final vote position after resisting an attempt to gut it.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, removes prison sentences for first offenders convicted of use, possession or non-profit distribution to adults of 18 grams or less of marijuana — about seven-tenths of an ounce.

The court, without entering a judgement of guilty, would place the individual on probation instead of sending him to prison. Nonprofit distribution covers things like passing a marijuana cigarette around.

The bill also lets police officers issue appearance tickets instead of arrest warrants for people charged with these offenses.

The House defeated a proposed amendment that would have removed the probation provision for first offenders.

That amendment was offered by Rep. E. Dan Stevens, R-Atlanta, who said, "I don't think we want to adopt that as a matter of right on a first offense there is no penalty other than probation. I don't know how we who as parents can try to tell our children that marijuana is bad but you get one shot free."

But Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee which reported the measure out to the full House, said the bill would save the state $21 million annually in court and jail costs and in costs for appointing counsel for those charged.

He said it would also save "all the aggravations and heartbreak for the kid and parents if the kid is found with one joint."

Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc, also opposed the amendment. "I'm just as tough on law enforcement as anyone," he said. But he said all the bill will do is "not... give a kid a record for passing around one joint of marijuana." Current penalties for possession or non-profit transfer of marijuana are a maximum one year in jail and $1,000 fine; for use, a maximum 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

An important part of the popularity of aluminum in and around the house is that it is by nature a low maintenance material. But aluminum products do become dirty and require occasional cleaning.

Because harsh abrasives do more harm than good, the rule of thumb about cleaning aluminum is to use the least strong cleaner that will do the job. The No. 1 choice, therefore, is water and that, water and mild detergent. Aluminum siding is effectively cleaned with a soft brush, or a hollow-handled brush, used for washing, make a practice

Ford To Shut Two Plants

DETROIT (AP) — At least two Ford Motor Co. assembly plants will be closed next week because a strike at an axle plant in Sterling Heights, Mich. has cut off the supply of parts.

A total of 5,175 employees will be laid off because of the shut-downs at Dearborn, Mich., where Mustang II's are produced, and Meluehen, N.J., which makes subcompact Pinto and Bolkats.

If the strike continues, all 20 of Ford's North American plants would run out of axles and be forced to close, some as early as next week, a company spokesman said.

'GOOD THING'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former U.N. ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan says the recent disclosure that Israel possessed nuclear weapons was a "good thing" because "no one has any illusions about what could happen."

Congress Eyes Plane Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is studying a formal State Department proposal to sell six C130 cargo planes to Egypt in what would be the first U.S. Egyptian arms deal in about 20 years. The proposed sale, which has drawn opposition from supporters of Israel and from the Israeli government, was announced Thursday by the Pentagon and State Department.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Decline Reverses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned up today after its slide in profit-taking Thursday.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stock prices was ahead more than a point and New York Stock Exchange issues advancing in price held a slight lead on those declining.

Brokers had attributed Thursday's decline to investors cashing in on profits they accumulated in the first three days of the week, when the Dow jumped nearly 30 points.

The underlying mood, however, was still bullish, they said, because of continued reports that the economic recovery was showing more strength than expected.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the nation's money supply had dropped in the latest reporting week, a development that could relieve some investor worries over interest rates.

Early prices today included Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 to 43; General Motors, up 1/4 at 68 1/2; and American Telephone & Telegraph, off 1/4 at 56 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average declined 7.08 to 1,002.13.

New York Stock Exchange issues declining in price led those advancing by about a 9-5 margin.

Volume on the Big Board dropped to 22.51 million shares from Wednesday's 32.61 million.

The NYSE composite index of all its listed common stocks fell .31 to 54.84.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .13 to 104.58.

U.S. Grants Permits At New Buffalo

CHICAGO — Permits have been issued to Paul and Roland Oselka, both of New Buffalo, for construction of a steel bulkhead and piers and installation of a sand berm on the Galien river, according to the Army Corps of Engineers' Chicago office.

The permits were required for work which is part of a $1 million expansion project at the New Buffalo marina operated by Oselka Enterprises.

WHAT EQUAL CREDIT LAW MEANS TO MEN

When the Equal Credit Opportunity Act went into effect last October, it was hailed as a breakthrough for women's rights — but would you believe it was an historic victory for men too?

It was, though, for the law gives broader and fairer access to credit to all consumers — men included. To document this, study this rundown of the principal ways the law benefits men (as well as wives, daughters, mothers, sisters, etc.).

Reasons for denying credit. Upon your request, a credit card company, department store, finance company or bank which denies or terminates your credit must give you an explanation for its decision. Without this information, you, the applicant, would not know, for instance, that your frequent moves from city to city are being counted against you or that your credit references are too new to be checked. With such knowledge, however, you can alter your habits and reapply at a later date. This provision is as valuable for men as for women.

Part-time income. Say you are a student who drives a taxi at night or you're a freelance journalist or a part-time salesperson. Under the new law, creditors may not discount the income you draw from your part-time employment. A creditor may examine the probable continuity of your job, but he cannot overlook your earnings just because your employment is not full-time. Again, surely an important clause to men as to women.

Alimony or child support payments. If your former wife applies for credit, she has the right to decide whether or not she wishes her alimony, child support or maintenance payments to be viewed as income upon which she is relying to obtain credit. If she so decides, her creditors must consider such payments as income to the extent that the payments are likely to be consistent. This provision helps free men from the burden of making loans to their female friends or relatives who couldn't get credit elsewhere. Since creditors no longer can readily dismiss alimony or child-support payments as income, a divorced or separated woman is less dependent on others for financial assistance.

Record-keeping. Sometime before Feb. 1, 1977, you will receive a notice from stores, banks or credit-card companies where you and your spouse have a joint account or an account

Hospital Engages Firm For Bond Sale

DOWAGIAC — The New York city based investment banking firm of Kidder, Peabody and company has been retained to underwrite the sale of tax-exempt bonds to finance the construction of an addition to Lee Memorial hospital here.

The agreement was announced today by the governing boards of the hospital and the Dowagiac hospital finance authority.

George Watkins, president of the hospital board, said it is expected the bonds to be sold will be of varying maturities to 30 years. The firm will buy the bonds and then resell them, he said.

He said the estimated total construction cost for the addition and remodeling of existing facilities now stands at about $3.8 million.

That cost will be financed from the bond sale and from $750,000 of contributions raised locally. The bonds are to be repaid from hospital revenue, he said.

The proposed bond issue is scheduled for presentation to the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing for approval in early April, the hospital said.

Thomas Dube, hospital administrator, said it is expected that a final purchase proposal will be forthcoming from Kidder, Peabody in May, with a closing to be held in New York in early June.

At the closing, the hospital finance authority will receive the proceeds from the bond issue, Dube said.

Construction is scheduled to begin in May or June with completion in 18 months to two years.

Watkins said the hospital is still negotiating cost-cutting changes with the apparent low bidder, VanderVeen Construction company, Kalamazoo. A contract has not been signed yet, he said. The firm's base bid was $3,814,177 and was received in December.

The plans call for a two-story addition with basement to be built on the Main street side of the present building. The addition will house the surgery ward, laboratory and X-ray rooms, inhalation therapy, emergency room, and 15 additional beds.

Truckers Expected To Reject Offer

CHICAGO (AP) — The trucking industry's nationwide contract offer to Teamsters — about 90 cents-an-hour short of what the 400,000 unionists want — is expected to be voted down this weekend, a source close to the negotiations says.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters from around the nation are scheduled to vote Sunday on whether to approve the latest proposal or give approval to a strike. Union negotiators have recommended a rejection of the industry's offer, the source said.

Currently, the truckers make between $7.18 and $7.33 an hour and over-the-road drivers make 18 cents a mile.

The union wants $1.75 an hour increase over three years with a 3 1/2-cent-a-mile increase for over-the-road drivers, the source said.

Man Pays $2,562.50 As Part Of Sentence

A Stevensville man paid restitution of $2,562.50 yesterday as part of his sentence for malicious destruction to property owned by a New Buffalo township trucking company. Sentenced yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court to two days in jail, fine and costs of $100, three months probation and restitution was Albert C. Steil, 32, of 604 West John Beers road. He pleaded guilty to destroying property valued under $100 (a charge involving over $100 was dismissed) Nov. 2 at Key Line Trucking. Steil, who according to District Judge John T. Hammond was a former employee of the firm, broke 17 windows in the building, five truck windows and four truck radiators. He also let 200 gallons of fuel oil drain out of a tank.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

It's Easy To Find Investment Advisors

Q. Although we read your column frequently we have never seen an answer to the question: Where does a middle-income family go to get sound, unbiased financial advice?

A. There are scores (hundreds) of investment advisors — ranging all the way from small shops to large banks and trust companies. A central clearing house for counsellors is the Investment Counsel Association of America at 127 East 59th St., New York City.

Many of the large advisory companies also guide large mutual funds — which, incidentally, are another way of putting your money to work under the supervision of professional money managers.

There are, of course, brokerage firms who supervise accounts and, in some cases, will take full charge of your investments.

There is no way, of course, that one can guarantee the "soundness" of any financial advisor. In the "unpleasantness" which hit the stock market in recent years most professionally managed portfolios suffered, too. In some cases the losses were horrendous. Nor is there any way to guarantee that advice will be 100 per cent free of bias.

I am not implying anything underhanded or fraudulent. Even the best minds fall into errors of judgment; doctors lose patients; 50 per cent of lawyers involved in litigation are on the losing end.

You do the best you can.

Q. We need help. We have always planned well financially; have not incurred any debts. As a result we (both are teachers, with two children) are being "killed" by income taxes. We need advice on how much to save and how much to invest.

A. Savings — or U.S. savings bonds — equal to a half year's income, it seems to me, should suffice. Thereafter, your money should be devoted to capital building via the gradual acquisition of sound common stocks.

You could obtain some tax relief by putting funds into trust accounts for your children. Your own investments should tend toward low-yield, high quality, growth stocks. Whatever funds you don't want to risk in common shares should be invested in tax-exempt municipal bonds.

For the guidance of bond buyers: Here are some recent Fitch Aaa ratings: Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone 9 1/4s of 2015; New Jersey Bell Telephone 8 1/4s of 2016; Texas Power & Light 8 1/2s of 2006; Alabama Bancorp. 9 1/2s of 1984; Asian Development Bank 8 1/2s of 1981; Inter-American Development Bank 8 1/2s of 1986, and 9s of 2001; International Bank for Reconstruction and Development 8 3/4s of 1980.

8.85s of 1985 and 9.35s of 2000. Some recent AA corporates: Central Telephone 9 1/4s of 2000; Gulf States Utilities 8 1/4s of 2006; Iowa Power & Light 8 1/4s of 2006; Iowa Public Service 10 1/4s of 2005; Montana Power 9 1/4s of 2005; N.Y. State Electric & Gas 9 1/4s of 2008; Oklahoma Gas & Electric 8 1/2s of 2006.

Q. I inherited a substantial stock portfolio. If I were to sell some of these shares, would I have to pay additional taxes? Or would I get a break because of my age (69)? If I sold the stocks and reinvested in bonds for more income

Sit-In Pays Off

Principal Howard Hutwitz has a snack Thursday in his office at Long Island City High School in New York's borough of Queens. He was barricaded there since Tuesday and, with the aid of a student-parent-teacher sit-in outside in the hall, defied the city school board's efforts to suspend him for dismissing a teenager from school. Late Thursday the school board reinstated him. (AP Wirephoto)

Here's Saga Of Hal, $25 Fee, And The Federal Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hal Haviland and his dog-and-pony act took on the mighty federal government. They lost.

First the Agriculture Department, then a U.S. District Court and now the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Haviland is an "exhibitor." That means he needs a federal license to ply his trade — the same license required for carnivals, circuses and zoos.

"A glaring example of over-regulation," snorts his lawyer,

James L. Shipley, noting that Haviland's show has only a pony or two and four or five dogs — not exactly the Greatest Show on Earth.

"It took one judge about a year to make the decision, it took three judges to hear the case (in the appeals court) and the Agriculture Department probably spent several hundred thousand dollars in legal time fighting this poor guy over a $25 license," Shipley said.

Haviland, who lives in a Washington suburb, entertains children at state fairs and parties. He fell victim to a law designed to protect animals from abuses in medical research but which covers those used in exhibitions as well.

Summery, the appeals court addressed the problem:

"Haviland asserts that the act, properly construed, does not extend to his dog and pony show and that inclusion of animal acts in the secretary (of agriculture's) implementing regulations is an unconstitutional usurpation of legislative power."

Says Shipley of the appeals court decision:

"It means he has to file a report every year, pay a federal fee of $25 and has to permit federal regulators to inspect him every so often. It brings in another small businessman. It will probably take a half dozen bureaucrats to regulate this one dog-and-pony show."

He says what happened to Haviland is the kind of thing that undermines people's confidence in government.

"I guess we'll have an army of Agriculture Department inspectors visiting all the dog-and-pony shows," he said. "It's just another case of the poliohead-bureaucratic syndrome: they've got to do it because they've got to do it because they've got to do it."

Of course, he added, "we'll take it to the Supreme Court."

GI Benefits Overpaid $1.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans and their dependents receiving GI Bill benefits drew $1.4 billion more than they were entitled to receive during the past 3½ years, the General Accounting Office reports.

The Veterans Administration has been able to recover most of the money, but as of last Dec. 31 the amount of still uncollected overpayments stood at $204.2 million, GAO's report to Congress said.

GAO said overpayments increased dramatically in recent years.

The Associated Press reported last Oct. 19 that $255.8 million remained uncollected from persons who had received overpayments. At that time, VA officials said $15.5 million could never be collected. The GAO said that at the present rate of increase, the total uncollected will reach $378 million by next June 30.

"As long as the $298.2 million remains outstanding, it will be unavailable to VA in making educational assistance payments to eligible persons,"

the GAO said.

The GAO said the rate of overpayments was only seven-tenths of 1 per cent in 1967, but rose to 15.6 per cent in the first six months of the current fiscal year, which began last July 1.

Of the $1.4 billion, the report said, $446 million was overpaid in the fiscal year that ended last June 30 and $412 million in the first six months of this fiscal year.

Taking Los Angeles as a sampling, the GAO found these causes of overpayments: —Failure of a veteran or dependent to report status changes such as: dropping classes or withdrawing from school caused 41 per cent.

—Issuance of special payments and poor VA processing practices accounted for 22 per cent of the overpayments.

—A program to provide advance payments at the start of the school year and monthly prepayments for following months caused 21 per cent.

—Normal "processing requirements" were blamed for 16 per cent.

VA Administrator Richard L. Roedel said he agrees with the GAO report about the causes of the problem but is not sure the percentages should be considered national figures.

In a letter to the GAO, Roedel said, "It should be noted that as we tighten controls and put greater emphasis on schools to report changes, the initial impact will be and has been an increase in overpayments."

The GAO suggested that Congress change the law to limit the advance payments at the start of the school year "to individuals who are determined to have a bona fide financial need." It said some veterans get the advance payments and don't actually enroll, but "overpayments attributable to prepayment of subsequent monthly assistance allowances will continue to occur due to the inherent nature of these payments."

Riviera said he will fix up his house with the money and replace some jewelry stolen in a break-in six months ago.

The drawing also for the first time featured a "comeback" prize in which the contestant wins $5,000 plus the opportunity to return to the show next week and win up to $200,000 in addition. This week's comeback winner was Donald Malusi, 38, of Bay City.

Here's Saga Of Hal, $25 Fee, And The Federal Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hal Haviland and his dog-and-pony act took on the mighty federal government.

They lost. First the Agriculture Department, then a U.S. District Court and now the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Haviland is an "exhibitor." That means he needs a federal license to ply his trade — the same license required for carnivals, circuses and zoos.

"A glaring example of over-regulation," snorts his lawyer,

James L. Shipley, noting that Haviland's show has only a pony or two and four or five dogs — not exactly the Greatest Show on Earth.

"It took one judge about a year to make the decision, it took three judges to hear the case (in the appeals court) and the Agriculture Department probably spent several hundred thousand dollars in legal time fighting this poor guy over a $25 license," Shipley said.

Haviland, who lives in a Washington suburb, entertains children at state fairs and parties. He fell victim to a law designed to protect animals from abuses in medical research but which covers those used in exhibitions as well.

Somberly, the appeals court addressed the problem:

"Haviland asserts that the act, properly construed, does not extend to his dog and pony show and that inclusion of animal acts in the secretary (of agriculture's) implementing regulations is an unconstitutional usurpation of legislative power."

Says Shipley of the appeals court decision:

"It means he has to file a report every year, pay a federal fee of $25 and has to permit federal regulators to inspect him every so often. It brings in another small businessman. It will probably take a half dozen bureaucrats to regulate this one dog-and-pony show."

He says what happened to Haviland is the kind of thing that undermines people's confidence in government.

"I guess we'll have an army of Agriculture Department inspectors visiting all the dog-and-pony shows," he said. "It's just another case of the pointy-headed bureaucrat syndrome: they've got to do it because they've got to do it because they've got to do it."

Of course, he added, "we'll take it to the Supreme Court."

GI Benefits Overpaid $1.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veterans and their dependents receiving GI Bill benefits drew $1.4 billion more than they were entitled to receive during the past 9½ years, the General Accounting Office reports.

The Veterans Administration has been able to recover most of the money, but as of last Dec. 31 the amount of still uncollected overpayments stood at $298.2 million, GAO's report to Congress said.

GAO said overpayments increased dramatically in recent years.

The Associated Press reported last Oct. 19 that $255.8 million remained uncollected from persons who had received overpayments. At that time, VA officials said $15.5 million could never be collected. The GAO said that at the present rate of increase the total uncollected will reach $376 million by next June 30.

"As long as the $298.2 million remains outstanding, it will be unavailable to VA in making educational assistance payments to eligible persons,"

the GAO said.

The GAO said the rate of overpayments was only seven-tenths of 1 per cent in 1967, but rose to 15.6 per cent in the first six months of the current fiscal year, which began last July 1.

Of the $1.4 billion, the report said, $446 million was overpaid in the fiscal year that ended last June 30 and $412 million in the first six months of this fiscal year.

Taking Los Angeles as a sampling, the GAO found these causes of overpayments:

—Failure of a veteran or dependent to report status changes such as dropping classes or withdrawing from school caused 41 per cent.

—Issuance of special payments and poor VA processing practices accounted for 22 per cent of the overpayments.

—A program to provide advance payments at the start of the school year and monthly prepayments for following months caused 21 per cent.

—"Normal processing requirements" were blamed for 16 per cent.

VA Administrator Richard L. Roudsbush said he agrees with the GAO report about the causes of the problem but is not sure the percentages should be considered national figures.

In a letter to the GAO, Roudsbush said, "It should be noted that as we tighten controls and put greater emphasis on schools to report changes, the initial impact will be and has been an increase in overpayments."

The GAO suggested that Congress change the law to limit the advance payments at the start of the school year "to individuals who are determined to have a bona fide financial need."

It said some veterans get the advance payments and don't actually enroll, but "overpayments attributable to prepayment of subsequent monthly assistance allowances will continue to occur due to the inherent nature of these payments."
